Big 3 Planning To Aid Far East

LONDON (AP)—The West's Big Three foreign ministers today gave urgent consideration to strengthening the Middle and Far East economically and militarily against Russian aggression. In their final day of conferences before the meeting of Atlantic Pact foreign ministers, the diplomatic Ernest Bevin of Britain, Dean Acheson of the United States and Robert Schuman of France, dropped the problems of the Germans and Europe temporarily to take up eastern affairs.

URGENT QUESTIONS
Officials of the conference said the ministers felt "Far East" problems are urgent and definite decisions are needed and must be taken quickly.

It was expected that communiques to be issued later today would lay down general policies for future Big Three moves in Europe, but might be more precise and decisive on Far Eastern problems, particularly Indo-China.

It was unlikely anything would be done on the China question, since Britain has recognized the Communist regime and France and the U.S. have not.

Another question expected to come up was the Japanese peace treaty.

HELP FOR IRAN
Middle-East problems to be considered were mainly economic, rather than military. The U.S. was reported to feel considerable concern, for example, about strengthening the economic position of Iran's government.

While the ministers considered eastern subjects, German experts of the three delegations conferred on effecting policies agreed on Friday by the foreign ministers.

The ministers made formal an agreement on full incorporation of West Germany into the Western European family. This left the problems of exactly how to do it and how fast.

Old Landmark Of Kemptville, Ont., Burns Up
KEMPTVILLE, Ont. (UP)—Fire early today destroyed a mechanics building and the water tower of the Kemptville Agricultural School, one of the best-known landmarks in eastern Ontario.

The fire, of undetermined origin, broke out about 3:30 a.m. and within a few minutes was blazing spectacularly, with the flaming tower visible for miles around.

Kemptville Fire Department sent all its available equipment to fight the blaze, which for a time threatened the entire school, operated by the Ontario provincial government. They confined the flames to the two-story brick building and the tower.

The building and contents, including shop equipment used in teaching farm mechanics, was a total loss. Three tractors also were burned.

School officials estimated damage at more than $50,000.

Yugoslavs Seize Italian Ship
TRIESTE (AP)—The Yugoslav-controlled radio at Capodistria confirmed today that the Italian steamship, Vettor Pisani, had been seized and the ship's captain and nine crew members arrested.

The ship was sequestered in Capodistria Harbor in the Yugoslav-occupied zone of Trieste free territory, because two Yugoslav militiamen had discovered 22 Italian-made hand-grenades and a quantity of propaganda material aboard, the radio said.

CROMMELIN TO QUIT NAVY FOR SENATE FIGHT

Captain, Famous For Strong Criticism, Wants Scarp Of Fate

WASHINGTON (UP)—Capt. John G. Crommelin, the U.S. navy's uncompromising foe of unification, announced today he has requested retirement in order to campaign actively for the Senate seat of Senator Lister Hill (D-Ala.).

Crommelin, who has been on enforced furlough since April 1 because of his outspoken criticism of Pentagon policies, said in a statement that his request is "a required follow-up to my official candidacy for the U.S. Senate." Furloughed officers cannot engage in partisan politics.

"Retirement provides the means to serve my country best in these critical times," the veteran flier said.

TO SPEAK 5 MONTHS
He added he has asked that his retirement be made effective June 1. He said "this will give me five months in which to campaign actively before the November elections."

Crommelin's retirement request was sent to Navy Secretary Francis P. Matthews earlier this week. It said simply, "Having completed more than 26 years of active commissioned service, it is requested that I be transferred to the retired list of officers."

Norwegians Fine British Trawler
OSLO, Norway (UP)—Norwegian authorities seized the British fishing trawler Etruria today, less than 24 hours after it had been freed by the Russians.

The Norwegians then fined the captain $300 for violating Norwegian territorial waters.

Capt. James Chapman was accused of illegally transferring seven tons of fish to another British vessel inside territorial waters.

British authorities in Moscow obtained his release from Russian authorities Friday by paying an $84 fine for fishing inside Russian waters.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. government's daily index of prices hit a high for the year in the week ending May 9. The Bureau of Labor Statistics says the index of 28 commodities climbed 2 per cent during the week, to 259 per cent of the August, 1939, level.

WHEAT CONTRACT IN NEWS AGAIN
Canada Will Welcome Any Move To Assure Farmers Of Markets

LONDON (Reuter)—Reports that Canada hopes to negotiate a new wheat contract with Britain, "not dissimilar" from the present one, has received no official comment in London.

But, informally, officials have said that in their private opinions this would be "a very reasonable process." Private traders and circles close to the International Wheat Council also have given the idea their informal blessing.

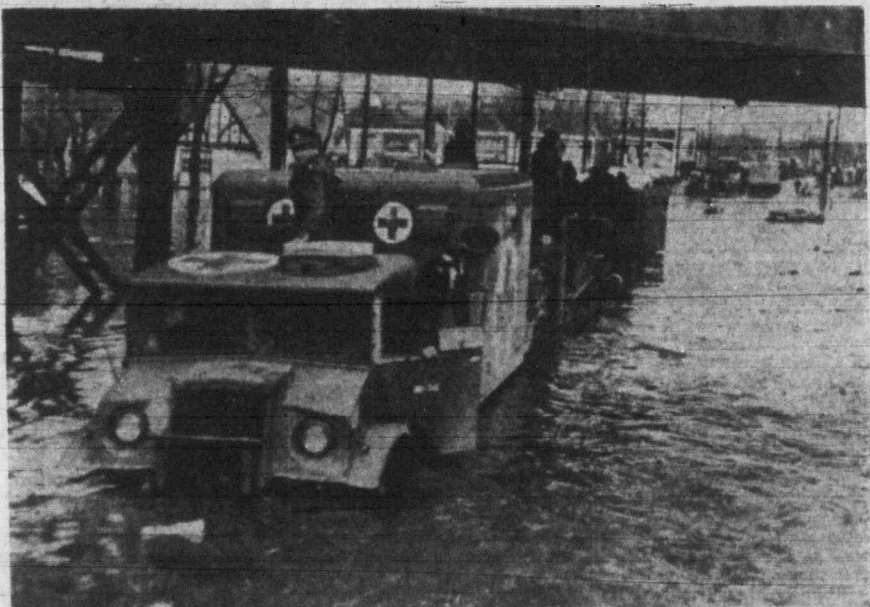

These officials believe that under a new Anglo-Canadian contract, it would be possible for Britain to undertake to buy a high proportion of her international wheat agreement quota from Canada without contravening the terms of the agreement.

If a price were agreed upon, it would have to be somewhere within the maximum and minimum levels of the international agreement. In the present state of the grain market, it would probably have to be at or near the maximum of $1.50 a bushel.

But Canada would not be able to sell quota wheat to Britain or anyone else above that price. At present Britain is paying Canada $2 a bushel for her wheat, under the Anglo-Canadian wheat contract, due to expire July 31.

Traders think it would be "extremely reasonable" to give Canadian farmers a more definite promise that their crop would be bought than exists now under the international agreement.

Under the international pact no importing country is bound to

Flight Service Workers Of Pan-American Strike

NEW YORK (UP)—Flight service employees of Pan-American World Airways began a system-wide strike today in an attempt to ground all planes of the world's largest airline.

The Transport Workers Union (C.I.O.) said 800 flight stewards, hostesses and pursers walked out at one minute after midnight and set up picket lines at all major Panam terminals in cities on the east, gulf and west coasts.

The strike had little immediate effect on Panam schedules, but the union said 4,600 maintenance men and radio operators would refuse to cross picket lines at the start of shifts later today. The ground crews and radio men are also T.W.U. members.

TEMPORARY WORKERS
The company said only 250 workers were directly involved and promised to operate its far-flung world-wide routes with supervisory personnel performing flight service duties.

Union members with planes at overseas terminals were instructed to serve on the planes during their return flights to the U.S.

The union said the main issue was the company's demand for the right to hire foreigners in flight service jobs. Wage demands and a seniority system also are major points in negotiations which broke down Friday after seven months.

The union immediately posted pickets at La Guardia Field here and delayed two Panam flights to Latin-American points for several hours until supervisory personnel manned the planes.

Maintenance personnel and radio operators were expected to refuse to cross picket lines, which will force the company to cancel many flights, the union said.

67 COUNTRIES
Pan-American Airways flies hundreds of thousands of miles of routes from the United States to 67 foreign countries and U.S. territories. It has no domestic routes, but maintains terminals in New York, Miami, New Orleans, Houston, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Brownsville, Tex.

The union said all Panam installations in the U.S. and abroad would be picketed.

Panam has 50 to 100 flights daily. Its passenger fleet consists of 67 four and two-engine transports, mostly the big Boeing strato-cruiser and DC-4 types.

8 Seamen Survive 8 Days In Boat
MAHE, Seychelles Islands (Reuter)—Eight Indian seamen, after eight days in a lifeboat without food or water, have reached Platte Island, 60 miles south of Mahe, main Seychelles Island.

They were exhausted by their ordeal in the Indian Ocean and their boat piled up on the reef because they had no strength to bring her in.

Two of the crew managed to wade ashore to get assistance and first-aid from the 25 inhabitants of the 125-acre island. The Indian seamen took to the lifeboat when their 250-ton ship, Siliander, sank in mid-ocean because of bad weather.

They were on their way from India to Tanganyika with a cargo of tea.

J. E. Lawson, Ex-Minister, Dies In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—J. Earl Lawson, 59, president and managing director of Odeon Theatres of Canada Ltd., and one-time Minister of National Revenue in the Conservative cabinet of the late Viscount Bennett, died today. He had been in hospital more than a year.

At the time of his appointment to the federal cabinet Aug. 14, 1935, he was federal organizer of the Conservative Party. He took office only a few weeks before the general election in which the Conservatives were defeated by the Liberals led by Mackenzie King.

He was born in Hamilton of Scottish parentage and for several years he was a district magistrate in northern Ontario.

During his years in the Commons, he earned a reputation for energy and capability.

Communists Now Bigger Threat Than 1940 Nazis
KING'S POINT, N.Y. (UP)—Navy Secretary Francis P. Matthews declared today that Russian aggression now is a greater threat to democracy than Hitler's army in 1940.

"We face a threat greater yet than the world faced 10 years ago when Hitler's legions overran France and we all waited with bated breath to see whether Britain could stand," Matthews said in a speech prepared for delivery at the U.S. Maritime Academy here.

"We face not a European threat, but a worldwide threat which already dominates eastern Europe and most of Asia outside of India and the Near East."

The Navy Secretary said the United States must continue to help other non-Communist nations until "the inevitable hour when the tide of Communism will begin to recede."

Matthews gloomily added that this might not occur without another war.

Six Square Miles Of City Now Under Water

WINNIPEG (BUP)—More evacuations were under way in the flood-besieged Greater Winnipeg area this morning as the fight to keep open one of the city's main bridges was abandoned.

Brig. O. M. Kay, deputy flood controller, said troops and equipment were being withdrawn from the north approach to the Norwood Bridge in order to save dikes in the area, which were being imperiled. Residents of the area were being ordered by sound trucks and contact men to evacuate immediately.

Brig. Kay said reports of flood control engineers had "assured us that efforts to reopen the bridge approach for traffic of all kinds was a lost battle." He said to continue the battle would only put pressure on dikes in the area.

"By 9 o'clock this morning an area of several blocks in the vicinity of the bridge will be flooded," he said.

Meanwhile, the destructive bent Red, Seine and Assiniboine Rivers bore down on this partially submerged metropolis of 320,000 today and threatened to make it a ghost city.

20 PER CENT GONE
One out of every five residents already had fled. Some 3,000 homes in six square miles of the city were flooded.

Premier Douglas L. Campbell renewed his plea to women and children to leave before the new flood crest knocks out the two remaining power plants. About 10 per cent of the city's unflooded homes already were in darkness.

H. W. Harich, U.S. army flood expert, said the new crest would reach Winnipeg in about six days. It now is at Emerson, Minn., 65 miles to the south on the U.S.-Canadian border.

The flood played no favorites. A police officer said the evacuees included "the rich man, poor man, beggarman and thief—literally."

AROUND CLOCK
Soldiers worked around the clock reinforcing the dikes which held back seven feet of flood water from the power plants. Pumps sucked out the thousands of gallons of water that seeped through the sodden sandbags.

But the prediction of more rain today apparently made the task of 50,000 flood fighters futile. City officials hoped to have one-third of the city's population evacuated Monday.

At least 60,000 residents, mostly women and children, already have fled the city and its suburbs to emergency quarters offered them in Saskatchewan, Ontario, Alberta, Quebec, and across the border in Minnesota and North Dakota. A scattered few found their way as far west as Vancouver and east to the Maritimes.

MANY MESSAGES
Radio stations and loud speakers in evacuee centres and railroad terminals carried hundreds of messages for persons separated from their families.

Crew Member Of Big Bomber Falls Five Miles
PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—A B-36 superbomber crew member fell more than five and a half miles from the huge plane when a plastic dome burst in the craft's nose section. U.S. air force authorities reported today.

March air force base planes from California joined civil patrol planes here in a search for the unidentified man.

The plane, largest land-based bomber of the U.S., was en route from Carswell air force base, Ft. Worth, Tex., to Fairchild-Susan air force base, Calif., when the bubble on the plane's nose section gave way in the 28,000-foot altitude Friday.

Air force officials said the plane has a pressurized cabin and the dome burst in the low atmospheric area.

OVER MOUNTAINS
The plane was flying over mountainous terrain near Hope, Ariz., when the accident happened.

The bomber circled the area, but was unable to spot the missing man. William air force base search planes from here also were unable to locate the body.

It was the first time a B-36 ever lost a crew member in this fashion, although other aircraft have experienced similar mishaps.

The B-36 landed at Carswell base in Fort Worth six hours after the accident. The big ship had to fly at reduced speed since the entire aircraft was depressurized when the bubble burst on the nose section from which bombardiers sight.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

DRIVERS AND TESTS

ONE of my busiest days this week started out with a visit to the Motor License Bureau on Superior Street, where, with a group of my fellow-citizens, I was called upon to show that I was fit and able to drive a car. And, as with so many of the others things I get called upon to do, I got quite a kick out of this re-examination of my driving abilities.

After taking my place in the gadget which simulates a driving seat, complete with wheel and whatnot, I was put through a series of intriguing tests to see if the old reflexes were working on all six—or perhaps it should be on all eight. And I thought I did rather well at putting on the brake when the red light suddenly bobbed up among the bobbing collection on the screen, my foot coming up quicker than you could say "Jack Robinson!" Incidentally, why "Jack Robinson?"

REFLEXES AND RESPONSES

THE examiner's analysis of my reactions and responses to what I saw when I peeped into a periscope, and peered into a gadget that reminded me of the hand-held thing in which one used to look at stereoscopic slides in the days before movies were invented, were evidently what they should have been. For I saw no visible sign of shock on the examiner's face.

After my spell in that synthetic driving seat, I was handed over to another equally amiable young man who invited me to go for a ride with him. So off we went on a tour of the streets designed to show how my reflexes worked when faced with the real thing—as compared with the synthetic. There again, I seem to have done the things I ought to have done and left undone the things I ought not to do when driving.

But, as we drove through the downtown thoroughfares I took a rather malicious delight in pointing out to my companion—who no doubt had noted them for himself—the driving faults of some of the drivers we overtook on the way.

ONE-ARMED DRIVING

PRACTICALLY every one we came up behind apparently lacked a left arm, for on the whole journey—and it was right in the heart of the business area—only one man, a truck driver, gave a signal when he was ready to turn. Others just went this way and that without any warning—apparently under the impression that the driver behind them had either X-ray eyes or telepathic powers.

This confirmation of what I have long known made me wonder anew at the recent revelation that a mechanical signal device is not considered sufficient in the eyes of the law, for a motorist who has one of the little lighted signals was fined for using it instead of a hand signal.

GADGETS VS. HANDS

I KNOW that, had I been in his place, I should have felt indignant at this wide disparity between law and justice. For, law or no law, those mechanical signals are a warning to the car coming along behind and, if their use leads to a fine, then hundreds of drivers who jeopardize motoring safety by never using either their arms or a lighted gadget should certainly be rounded up and fined.

In the course of that particular drive, both my companion and I noted that courtesy is one of the things most lacking on the road.

LACK OF COURTESY

THERE is the driver who won't give way even when another has the right-of-way, and the driver who impatiently "honks" the horn when the motorist ahead of him is perhaps waiting for a cripple or a blind person to cross safely, just after the red light has changed to green.

So, after recalling some of the sneers I have heard about women drivers, I was particularly pleased when my examiners passed my driving—without any restrictions. This being the season for conferring degrees, I felt almost as if I had been given a degree for commonsense and courtesy in driving—summa cum laude!

ADJUDICATORS PLEASED

City Congratulated On Two Fine Church Choirs

By AUDREY SID. JOHNSON

Two adjudicators at the Victoria Musical Festival congratulated Victoria on having two such fine church choirs to listen to on Sundays. These were Christ Church Cathedral and First United Church choirs, competitors Friday night in class 8 for church choirs of 35 voices or over.

Lawrence Cludera remarked in his adjudication that he had been delighted with the standard of performance in both cases and that he hoped the example of these choirs would be followed next year with more large choirs entering the contest in the same spirit of friendly rivalry.

Assisting in adjudicating vocal work at last night's session was Glyndwr Jones, F.R.A.M., A.R.A.M., L.R.A.M., of Vancouver. Mr. Jones replaces Sherwood Robson for the final two days of the festival, Mr. Robson being ill.

Friday night's program opened with high school choirs, mixed, 10 voices or over. Mr. Cludera felt that the difficulty of blending the male and female voices at this age had been particularly successful in the case of Oak Bay High School, to whom he awarded first place.

Esquimalt High School took second place and Mount View third.

Of the four intermediate Bach finalists, Wilna Johnson took top honors with 173 marks. The other three were marked as follows: Lorraine Brand, 172; James M.

Garden Ornaments Magnet For Thieves

Probably someone who won't put out the money but wants to have his garden well decorated is responsible for the theft of ornaments from gardens in the Oak Bay district during the last month.

Sgt. Harry Douglas reports at least four thefts during that period. Three expensive white geese ornaments were stolen from an Uplands home garden. From another a large ornamental dog was taken. An effigy of a dwarf holding a vase on his shoulder and the figure of a man were stolen from other gardens.

Creasey, 169; George Essihos, 167.

In the finals of the oratorio class, there were three competitors and markings were extremely close. June Milburn's style and manner of singing the Bach aria, "Sheep May Safely Graze," brought her 169 marks and the Sir Charles Villiers Stanford trophy, presented by Victoria I.O.D.E. chapters. Alice Waddell received a mark of 168, and Dorothy Mae Charles followed with 167.

Baritone solo, grade A class was won by Douglas Welsh with 171 marks. John Dunbar was in second place with 168.

North Saanich Musical Society took the Parfitt Bros. Cup for choral societies with a marking of 160. In the church choir class allegedly referred to, First United Church won the Jameson Coffee trophy with 176 marks.

Other trophies awarded at the close of Friday night's session were the Arlon Club Shield for high school choirs, 40 voices and under, won by Esquimalt High School. Hollywood Ladies' Musical Club Cup for junior vocal ensemble went to the Victoria School of Expression, and the Schubert Ladies' Choir trophy was won by Victoria High School.

OTHER RESULTS

Results at First United Church Friday, Lawrence Cludera adjudicating: Private school choirs, 20 voices or under, St. Margaret's School, 176; Victoria School of Expression, 175.

First Baptist Church, Byron Nichols adjudicating: piano solo, sonatina, 12 years and under; Peter Wilkinson, 85; Carl Williams, Chalk, 84; Jeanette Jewkes, Patricia Hocking, Lorna K. Mulholland, Alex Husband and Robert Readings (tied), 83.

Metropolitan United Church schoolroom, Glyndwr Jones adjudicating: boys' solo, 11 years or over; Richard Copley, 79; and William E. Ormond, 76; junior contralto, 19 years of under; Joyce Menzies, 76; and Janet E. Bowden, 75; junior soprano, 19 years or under; Beverly Barnes, 82; Margaret MacDonald, 81; and Joanne Milly and Catherine Dixon, (tied), 80.

City Employees In Managership Field

Two On Present Staff To Be Interviewed By Committee Monday

First official word that present City Hall employees are being seriously considered as possibilities for the position of city manager came Friday afternoon at a short but stormy session of City Council.

The admission came from Ald. Harold M. Diggon, chairman of a special council committee screening applicants for the managership job, after some deep probing by Ald. Waldo Skillings, who said it was time council knew what the committee was doing.

After three-way debate between the two aldermen and Mayor Percy George, the committee chairman revealed Henry Watson, present assistant comptroller-treasurer, and M. Frank Hunter, city clerk, would be called before the committee Monday afternoon for interview and screening.

Ald. Diggon said the committee intended to have the full council in attendance for the interviews. Only other applicants to have been interviewed at a full meeting of council were George S. Mooney, of Montreal, and Cecil Clifford Wyatt, of Kingston, first and second choices by a firm of management engineers as being best qualified of the 72 who applied for the job.

The city manager question was not slated for discussion at Friday's council meeting but was brought up by Ald. Skillings who said people on the street seemed to know more about what council's manager committee was doing than he did.

"Just the other day I was stopped on the street and told 'I see where you're going to promote some of your own city officials to the manager's job.'"

"It is very embarrassing to a member of this council and not know what is going on," said Ald. Skillings. "I feel the committee should report its progress. I feel all committees should report."

At first, Ald. Diggon seemed reluctant to talk about the matter. He said he wasn't concerned about what people on the street were saying. He said if there were rumors, they had not come from the committee.

"I was about to ask council to meet with the committee in conference Monday afternoon to discuss the matter disturbing the minds of the councilors," he said.

Ald. Skillings, however, was growing impatient. He said he couldn't wait until Monday.

"SLAP-HAPPY"

"The people in the city are perturbed," he declared. "The entire council is getting criticized for the 'slap-happy' way this has been handled. There is no reason why any committee chairman should meet or screen any candidate by himself."

It was at this point Mayor George entered the discussion. "Your not playing ball when you make an accusation like that," he told Ald. Skillings. "I ask you withdraw that word 'slap-happy.' There's been no 'slap-happy' handling in this."

"The committee sat all day yesterday," he stated. "They have had a very onerous task."

"The matter of city manager has been discussed but only in an unofficial way," Mr. Watson answered. "The chairman suggested he would like to have some record of my abilities and qualifications so I gave them to him on paper. There have been no further discussions."

"Mr. Hunter's and Mr. Watson's applications will be discussed Monday," Ald. Diggon interjected.

"That was my whole point," Ald. Skillings proclaimed. Mayor George shook his head. He thought the whole argument was unwarranted. He said he wished the aldermen would be less suspicious of one another.

Alberta's refineries produced 39,827,000 gallons of fuel products during January, 1950, a 22 per cent increase over January, 1949.

Miss Massey was runner-up.

New Floats Give More Space At Yacht Club

Wharf space at Royal Victoria Yacht Club, Cadboro Bay, has been doubled by addition of these new floats east of main wharf and floats. Dirt fill is being established and attractive approach soon will be completed. Black-hulled racing sloop with tall masts near end of wharf is Max Young's 47-foot Alcion, one of number of new boats at club this season. Behind Alcion is Cherie, owned by Dr. R. J. Wride, club commodore.

Yachting Season Opens In Colorful Sail-Past

That brand of enthusiasm which is peculiar to the yachting clan was in evidence to a large degree today as the 1950 season of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club was officially opened.

Always one of the early summer highlights, today's sail-past by more than 40 craft was as colorful as ever, in spite of the fact many owners have been held up in getting their boats in the water because of unfavorable weather.

During summery conditions of the past few days, however, activity at the Cadboro Bay club has picked up considerably.

Taking the salute in today's sail-past was Dr. R. J. Wride, club commodore, aboard his trim, white-hulled auxiliary cruiser Cherie.

Leading the parade of flag-bedecked boats was honorary commodore A. D. Crease, senior member of the club. He was followed by the flag officers in order of seniority. Next came the sailing craft in order of size, and the power boats.

Many boats had guests aboard as they formed up on the northeast shore and moved across Cadboro Bay in an impressive tableau.

Following the sail-past, refreshments were served in the clubhouse.

After the last craft is tied up tonight, members will conclude the day's activities with a flannel dance. More than 300 are expected to attend.

Possibly the most amazing feat of the evening was the presentation of a one-act play by six of the ladies. "Miss Popularity" was the title of the play, but the strange part was that not a word of script was spoken from beginning to end.

Marauding Dogs Big Danger To Nesting Birds

Dog-owners in Saanich should keep their pets under strict control during the next month or so because Poundkeeper Jerry Shepherd and Game Warden Joseph Jones are on patrol to guard nesting birds.

Dogs can be impounded for raiding ground-nesting birds, and repeated offenders may be shot. This is the time of year when game birds are hatching their young and the two officers point out that hundreds of nests are destroyed each year by foraging dogs.

Roger Monteith, local sports editor, said that some common dogs are running game up in the Cowichan Lake country. He says many dogs, pets of loggers, are left behind to run wild when the woodsmen move on to new camps. These dogs can be shot on sight when seen running down deer.

Recently, a study was made to determine the present state of health and well-being of 78 diabetics who had been placed on a diet and Insulin 20 years before. Previous to Dr. Banting's discovery of Insulin in 1922, their chance of survival for more than two or three years would have been slight.

It was found that 77 of the 78, or 98 per cent, were alive and living active, useful lives.

Diabetes cannot be cured, but scientific management under the direction of a physician gives comfort and happiness to people who are otherwise without hope. Do not be misled by claims for so-called diabetic cures. There is but one safe treatment, and it is thoroughly understood by your physician.

MOST ROSY DREAMS VANISH

Committee In Ottawa Hears Varied Pension Plan Proposals

By GORDON E. LEIGHTON
Times Ottawa Representative

OTTAWA — Confronted with the facts of economic existence, some rosy dreams of wider pensions advocates have vanished into thin air.

By now many of them should believe the far-flung plans they fostered were mere phantasms not capable of translation into material use, not even possible as a basis for practical application.

When the House convened in February, idealists of various parties were ready to battle at once for non-contributory, no means test, old-age pensions of as much as the fantastic $60 monthly at 60 years that one member advocated. Cautiously it was suggested that perhaps some inquiry should be made as to the practicability. "Nonsense," said the enthusiasts. "Pensions were promised as an election favor; they should be instituted forthwith."

COMMITTEE WORKS

Since then there have been many meetings, discussions, investigations, evidences and statistics presented week by week to a committee on which some of them are sitting. They find this. Not one of the various plans adopted in other countries so far investigated but depends upon a means test. In short, Australia, South Africa, Denmark, Norway, Spain, Canada, the United States and even New Zealand require need to be proved before pensioning. These countries fail to see, in fact, why a pension should be payable to one who does not need it. In the quiet room where a joint committee of the Senate and the House discusses this problem under the guise of "Old Age Security," the future welfare of many of our aged is being planned and devised. Attracting not so much of the fanfare, nevertheless they are expected to produce a non-partisan plan that will recommend itself to all sections of both chambers.

ACT IN 1927

So far the work has been mostly investigatory. Since 1906 Canada has been concerned with pensions but not till 1927 was an act providing for a plan actually passed. Dominion-provincial agreements speeded the operation and a pension on a fifty-fifty basis was arranged. Today the federal government accepts responsibility for 75 per cent of the cost up to a total of $30 per capita monthly, the provinces having the duty of adding not less than $10 per month to this base.

What the committee has learned during its detailed probing is that Canada's pensions rank favorably with even the best of others in the world, and better than most. This year on pensions for aged and blind the Dominion and provinces will spend about $140,000,000.

Next the committee will hear the briefs of organized bodies interested. One of the surprises of the early ones this week was that of the executive council of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. Its suggestion of a national basic pension of $30 monthly to all Canadians of 70 or over seemed to suggest a radical change in outlook. It made no mention of costs of such scheme, estimated at $242,820,000 to the federal purse alone, nor how such should be met, except to suggest that all citizens must contribute.

Norwegians Fine British Trawler

OSLO, Norway (UP)—Norwegian authorities seized the British fishing trawler Etruria today, less than 24 hours after it had been freed by the Russians. The Norwegians then fined the captain $300 for violating Norwegian territorial waters. Capt. James Chapman was accused of illegally transferring seven tons of fish to another British vessel inside territorial waters. British authorities in Moscow obtained his release from Russian authorities Friday by paying an $84 fine for fishing inside Russian waters.

Crew Member Of Big Bomber Falls Five Miles

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—A B-36 super-bomber crew member fell more than five and a half miles from the huge plane when a plastic dome burst in the craft's nose section, U.S. air force authorities reported today.

March air force base planes from California joined civil air patrol planes here in a search for the unidentified man.

The plane, largest land-based bomber of the U.S., was en route from Carswell air force base, Ft. Worth, Tex., to Fairfield-Susun air force base, Calif., when the bubble on the plane's nose section gave way in the 28,000-foot altitude Friday.

Air force officials said the plane had a pressurized cabin and the dome burst in the low atmospheric area.

The plane was flying over mountainous terrain near Hope, Ariz., when the accident happened.

The bomber circled the area, but was unable to spot the missing man. William air force base search planes from here also were unable to locate the body.

It was the first time a B-36 ever lost a crew member in this fashion, although other aircraft have experienced similar mishaps.

The B-36 landed at Carswell base in Fort Worth six hours after the accident. The big ship had to fly at reduced speed since the entire aircraft was depressurized when the bubble burst on the nose section from which bombardiers sight.

Flight Crews Of Panam Quit Work

Foreigners Working Planes One Issue In Strike Stopping Trips

NEW YORK (UP)—Flight service employees of Pan-American Airways began a system-wide strike today in an attempt to ground all planes of the world's largest airline.

The Transport Workers' Union (C.I.O.) said 800 flight stewards, hostesses and pursers walked out at one minute after midnight and set up picket lines at all major Panam terminals in cities on the east, Gulf and west coasts. The strike had little immediate effect on Panam schedules, but the union said 4,600 maintenance men and radio operators would refuse to cross picket lines at the start of shifts later today. The ground crews and radio men are also T.W.U. members.

TEMPORARY WORKERS

The company said only 250 workers were directly involved and promised to operate its far-flung world-wide routes with supervisory personnel performing flight service duties. Union members with planes at overseas terminals were instructed to serve on the planes during their return flights to the U.S.

The union said the main issue was the company's demand for the right to hire foreigners in flight service jobs. Wage demands and a seniority system also are major points in negotiations which broke down Friday after seven months.

67 COUNTRIES

Pan-American Airways flies hundreds of thousands of miles of routes from the United States to 67 foreign countries and U.S. territories. It has no domestic routes, but maintains terminals in New York, Miami, New Orleans, Houston, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Brownsville, Tex.

One Of The Family Now

AS IN THE CASE OF THE VISIT OF Mayor H. G. R. Mews of St. John's here last month, the current visit to Victoria of Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland is a happy one in that it affords an opportunity for us to get to know the people of Canada's new province more intimately, and an equal chance for the Newfoundland representative to see how we, on the western extreme of Confederation, live. It will no doubt have occurred to Mr. Smallwood in the course of his Canada-wide tour that one of the primary problems to be overcome is that of reminding the people of the other nine provinces that Newfoundland is actually a member of the family. We have grown so accustomed to thinking of the Atlantic island as a neighbor rather than a relative that it is difficult to change our outlook. Such slips as the newspaper headline which announced the other day that Premier Smallwood had "arrived in Canada" seem fated to occur periodically for some time yet. And one wonders whether the unique gift the visitor and his wife received in Medicine Hat—a platter inscribed with the promise of the city to foot the bill for meals in "any restaurant in Canada"—was so worded with the realization that the recipient will still be in Canada when he returns home from the present trip.

In more serious vein, however, we would express the pleasure of Victorians in having the visiting Premier with us. His presence here will do much to dispense the lapses to which we have referred, and it is to be hoped that the paths-blazed by Mr. Mews and Mr. Smallwood—as well as the easterly one recently charted by B.C. Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb—will be followed, in the days to come, by such citizens of the two extreme provinces as may be able to add by personal experience to the common bonds of Confederation.

Scant Comfort For Mr. Attlee

NEWSPAPER REPORTS OF BRITAIN'S municipal elections have underscored the point that in 11 of every 12 seats at stake, sitting candidates have been returned to office. Accounts have also noted that changes in council seats do not necessarily imply that similar changes will occur in national elections for parliamentary office. That was evident last year when Conservatives made such headway in the borough lists but fell short, despite tremendous gains, in the campaign for control of the House of Commons. The results of the local council voting do, nevertheless, emphasize the precarious position of the Attlee administration. Growth of Conservative strength may not be as great as the simple tabulation of gains and losses suggests. But when a government at Westminster clings to office by such a narrow margin as that now held by Labor, any weakening in party strength, wherever it may be manifest, provides ground for concern.

It is true, of course, that local issues can determine a candidate's success or failure at the polls to a greater extent in municipal contests than in a general election. In the latter, broad national interests are a matter of major concern to the voters who may not relate them so closely to questions that arise in fights for council seats. At the same time, party principles are a factor in municipal voting, and when standard bearers of Labor lose more seats than they gain, the implications on the wider political front cannot be brushed aside. Mr. Attlee, Sir Stafford Cripps and their colleagues may have to look hard to find grounds for comfort in the verdicts handed down in the municipalities this week.

It's A Trade Problem Here, Too

ONE OF THE TRADE PROBLEMS with which Canadians are only too familiar was raised this week by a British executive who has returned to Leeds from a visit to this Dominion. Mr. Norman Smith sees wide opportunities for sales in this country, provided the present market can be assured for some years in the future. His problem is created by the possibility that Canada may switch purchases it is now making from Britain to the United States when the dollar balance between the two North American nations is righted.

Mr. Smith expresses the attitude of any enterprising salesman when he states British firms would be unwilling to ignore customers elsewhere in the world in order to meet Canadian demands if those demands faded early cultivation. It might be pointed out to the businessman from Leeds that Canada has diverted a large amount of her timber and dairy produce to Britain in recent years, and has seen much of that trade evaporate as other sources of supply closer to home—and dealing in soft currencies—moved into the British market. Dollar balances, of course, were a factor there, too.

Long term agreements were reached in some commodities, wheat, for instance. But in the more normal avenues of trade, price, quick delivery and other factors will continue to be powerful influences. In highly competitive fields, it is difficult to negotiate for imports many years ahead. It should be noted, however, that many British firms have shown much greater adaptability to Canadian needs than was the case in prewar days. As long as they continue to provide what Canadians want at a price that appeals to the Canadian purse, their export business to this nation should flourish.

Putting It In A Nutshell

ONE OF THE MOST LIKEABLE—and valuable—characteristics of Canada's able Minister of External Affairs, Hon. Lester B. Pearson, is his ability to sum up a situation in a pithy and often humorous phrase. Now in London for the Foreign Ministers' conference, "Mike" Pearson got a laugh and a personal ovation from a dinner audience the other night when he commented on the position of Canada as a middle power in relation to Britain and the United States. "It's not always easy for the little fellow to keep in step with the great strides of the big fellows," said the Canadian minister, "especially when the big fellows are out of step themselves."

No better thumbnail sketch of this Dominion as a mediation agent between the two great nations, as well as a world power in her own right, could readily be imagined. Tied by tradition and desire to Britain and the Commonwealth, but drawn inevitably also into the orbit of the great republic with which we share this continent, we endeavor to pace ourselves in large measure with their economic trends, as a result of our close seller-customer relationship with both. As a member of international groupings in which they both participate we are also influenced in our policies in regard to world politics. By virtue of our unique position we often have a far larger say in what happens than might normally accrue to a nation of some 13,000,000. And with Mr. Pearson as our spokesman abroad we often say it well.

McCarthy - Red Battle Continues But Charges Still Lack Proof

By BRUCE BLOSSAT From New York

A FOUR-MAN broadside has been delivered against Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin in reply to his repeated charge that Owen Lattimore was the "chief architect" of American Far Eastern policy in the days before China's fall. The four men were no ordinary citizens. They were Secretary of State Dean Acheson and three former secretaries, Cordell Hull, James F. Byrnes and Gen. George C. Marshall.

BACK A LITTLE

To gauge the meaning of their statements, let's go back a little. McCarthy began making charges of communism in the State Department. None of his publicized cases panned out, and he finally wound up by putting all his chips on Lattimore, whom he accused of being a Red and an agent of Soviet Russia. Lattimore never worked for the department, but McCarthy nevertheless insisted he was the maker of America's China policy. He saw that policy as deliberately encouraging the Chinese Reds' victory over Chiang Kai-shek.

That's where the four secretaries fit in. These are the men who have guided U.S. foreign policy in all areas for virtually the entire period since 1933. The only gap in the record is that represented by the tenure of the late Edward R. Stettinius—a span of less than a year. Without exception they declare that Lattimore was not in any sense or in any degree the architect of policy in China. And since they were and are the men finally responsible for that policy, they ought to know.

Of especial weight is the word of Gen. Marshall. It was he who undertook a mission to China before he became secretary of state, thus acquainting himself first-hand with the situation. It was he who headed the department when the fateful decisions on China were made.

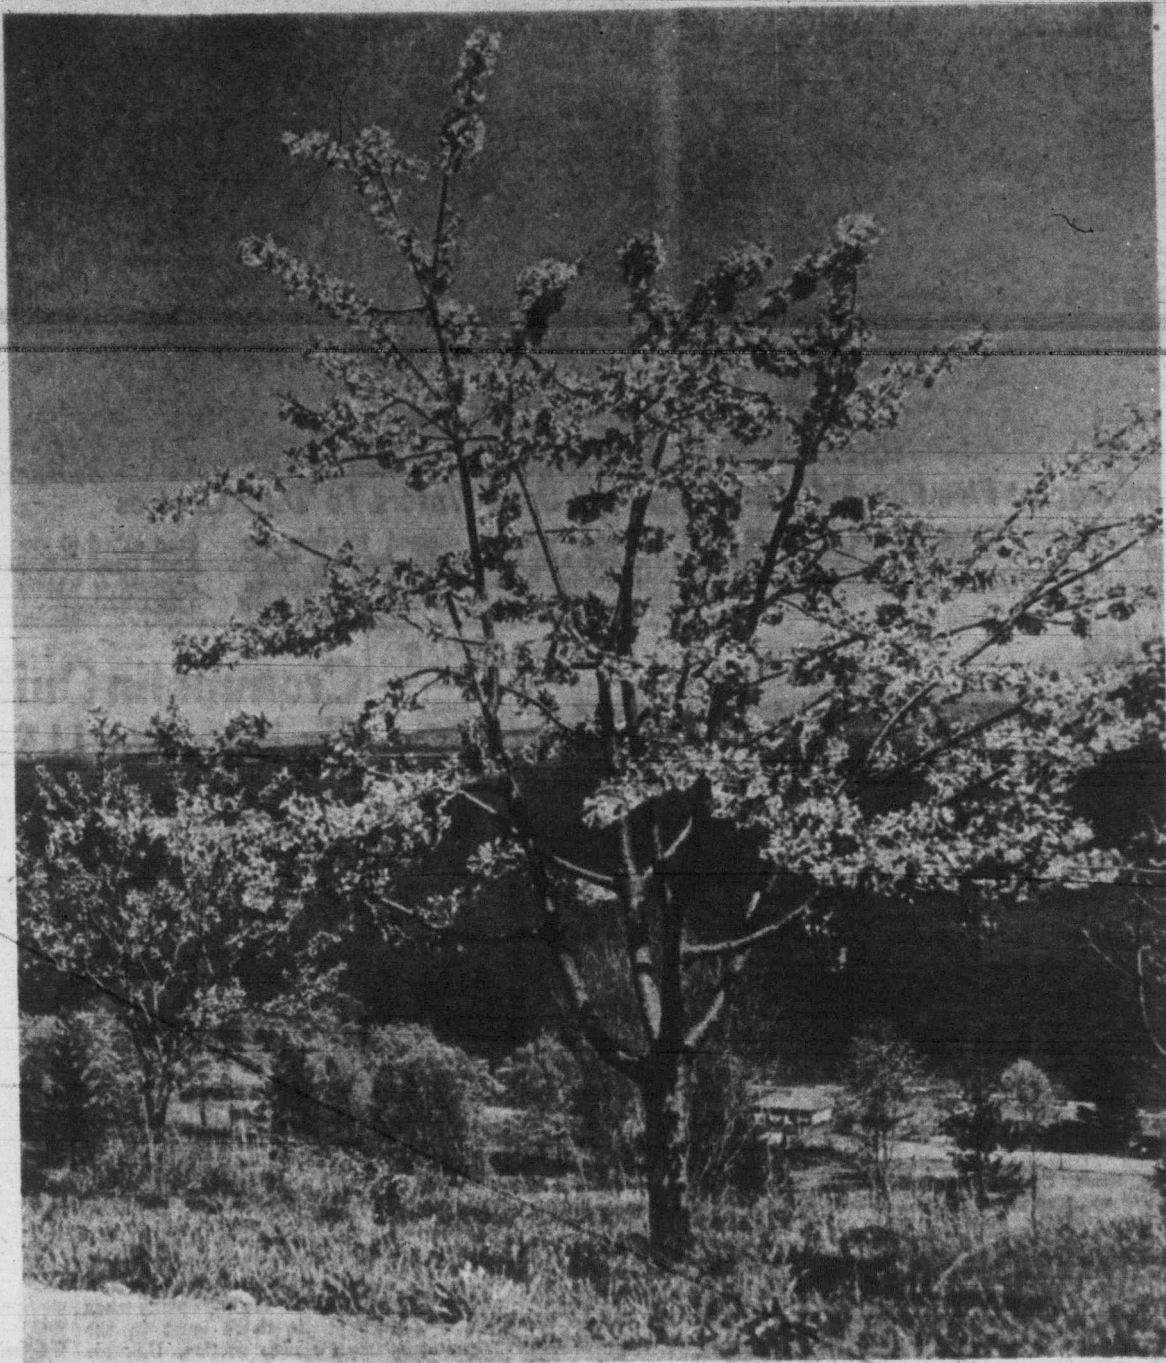

Competent reporters agree Marshall himself made the choice not to support Chiang Kai-shek to the extreme extent necessary to save his government—by making it a virtual U.S. protectorate. To prove his charge about Lattimore's influence, McCarthy therefore must show that Lattimore somehow affected Marshall in that decision. To that Marshall now says:

"The statement referred to is completely without basis in fact. So far as I and my associates can recall I never even met Mr. Lattimore."

LINK NOT SHOWN

McCarthy has tried to suggest Marshall was a dupe of Lattimore and that the general's appointment as secretary was a "pathetic thing." Certainly it is possible for a man to be influenced by the views of a man he has never met—for his subordinates may incorporate those views in reports and advisory conversations.

But the burden of proof that such influence was actually exercised is still upon McCarthy, and he had not yet established the link he claims existed.

Outlawing Reds

By WILLIAM FITTER From Sydney

TWO dramatic developments in Canberra last week indicate that Australia's move to outlaw the Communists and drive them from office in the trade unions will precipitate the most bitter struggle between the right-wing and left-wing sections of the community the country has known—far transcending the controversy which raged over Labor's unsuccessful attempt to nationalize the private banks.

The first of these developments was Prime Minister Menzies' introduction of a bill to amend the system of voting at Senate elections, so that if Labor rejects the Communist Party Dissolution Bill in the Senate—where it has a majority—and the government seeks dissolution of Parliament, the government will have a reasonable chance of winning both the Senate and the House of Representatives.

SECONDLY, the federal parliamentary Labor Party, after week-long discussions, announced that it would support those sections of the bill outlawing communism but would move amendments modifying the measure as it applies to persons suspected of sympathy with the Communists.

The main purpose of the Senate bill is to ensure that one party secures a majority in the Senate after a double dissolution. Justifying the bill, Menzies said: "If there were a double dissolution under the present Senate set-up the result would be deadlock and the government, strongly entrenched in this House by the people's vote would be unable to put its proposed legislation on the statute book. There are too many problems before Australia, both national and international, for any patriotic Australian to desire a state of affairs in which Parliament becomes unworkable and the government becomes frustrated. Our proposals are not only calculated to avoid futility in Parliament but are also essentially democratic."

Because the proposed voting change required amendment of the Constitution it must be placed before the public at a referendum.

BROADLY, the bill outlaws the Communist Party and any affiliated organization, declares essential industries wherein any named Communists or fellow-traveler is then automatically prohibited from holding trade union office, and gives "declared" persons the right of appeal to the high court but throws on them the onus of proving that they are not Communists or fellow-travelers.

The Labor amendments will seek (1) to place on the Commonwealth government the onus of proving that a suspected person is a Communist; (2) to extend the right of appeal to the State Supreme Courts; (3) to give an acquitted suspect the right to claim damages from the government and (4) to delete the unlimited right to search persons and property contained in the bill.

POLL TAX

"Unfair Poll Tax" is correct when he mentions the way the City of Victoria sends out notices, giving you only five days to pay or a summons will follow. My notice was stamped May 1 and postmark was May 3, and received on May 4, and their office was closed on Saturday.

This poll tax should be abolished, as we tenants not only pay taxes on the landlords' houses, but give a lot of landlords a nice fat living. I pay over $120 indirectly in taxes, yet we have to pay the poll tax and road tax as well. The tenant is really the person footing the bill and we should have equal rights to vote on all city matters and money by-laws as tenants and owner-occupiers of houses are now placed on much the same footing.

EQUAL RIGHTS.

CHILDISH MATTER?

I have observed lately that there has been considerable controversy on the subject of "Beer" in letters, articles, etc. The whole matter strikes me as being childish, and all for a glass of beer, and I can't help seeing the humorous side of it all.

It would be more to the point to permit reputable hotels to have a liquor license, to serve the same with meals, to select from a wine list—as in all civilized places.

Imagine inviting a party of friends (visitors from a civilized country) to dine at the Empress Hotel, and having to give them to drink soda pop or some other kind of mush—or some of our famous chlorinated water! What would they think and tell their friends when they got back home?

Well, well, perhaps in 50 years time we might begin to see a little sense and become civilized. Who knows?

BEER PLEBISCITE

Until I read the blood and thunder advertisement in Thursday noon edition, in opposition to the plebiscite we are to vote upon May 30, I was rather undecided as to my vote. That horror, featuring murder as an eye-catcher, made up my mind very quickly. I cannot support an organization that would sponsor or write that sort of thing, and I am disagreeably surprised that any Canadian newspaper would consider publishing such a thing.

As a perfect example of bad taste and unjustified, unfair attack it is easily the best I have ever seen. If those are going to be the tactics of The Victoria Citizens' Association then I say it is a good thing those "reformers" have unmasked themselves. It should be a revelation to decent people in Victoria.

It is impossible to avoid comparison between this type of vicious and unscrupulous attack and the calm and reasoned presentation by the people who are in favor of the sale of beer in licensed premises. The Hotel Association should be very proud of its appeals in the newspapers and the startling contrast to the slimy attacks from their opposition.

HAVE WE FORGOTTEN?

Ten years ago, almost to the day, on May 26, 1940, to be exact, the people of the British Commonwealth of Nations and their Allies were on their knees before God, in humble prayer for His help in extricating the 330,000 men of the British Army, then facing utter defeat at Dunkirk.

We know, although unfortunately we seem to have forgotten, that God answered that prayer in a most miraculous way. Again and again, all down our amazing history, our people have been saved from one danger after another when they have asked for God's help.

Today we face even greater dangers—not the least of them being the present disastrous floods, and the threat of further devastating floods in Canada and U.S.A.

Even worse than these floods, however, is the world-wide threat of Communism, with its many related evils, which are, after all, only poisonous emanations from a badly infected system, and directly caused by neglect of God's laws.

God has never failed us in the past, and will not do so now if we go to Him in true repentance and humility. This is not only church business, but national, and in fact Christendom-wide. Through our parliaments, our civic assemblies, and our churches, we should get together in prayer to Almighty God that He avert the terrible danger facing us, and set us onto the right road of obedience and co-operation with Him.

E. W. ABRAHAM,

The thing to do about the Russian departure from Lake Success is not to make too great a fuss about it. They hope to jostle and disturb us into pleading with them to come back, picking up a bargain or two en route. But they can come back tomorrow if they want to. Mr. Lie's candle still stands lighted in the window. Let us leave it there, instead of picking the candle up and carrying it to Moscow to give the Russians a better look at it.

IN HIS ELEMENT

Winnipeg Free Press

It is quite evident from the dispatches reaching us from London that Mr. Churchill is in his element in the present Parliament. The master strategist of the second great war can now bring his talents to bear on the parliamentary battles.

He can group his armies, prepare the ambushes, organize outflanking movements, experiment with new tactics. His shock brigades in evening dress must have appeared on a recent Monday night. The result was a near victory spoiled only by the absence of a Liberal member at the telephone. Such are the fortunes of war.

A SEASONED TRAVELER

William Clark in the BBC London Letter

"When I was a small boy I was introduced to a very aged and fierce uncle with the thrilling words: 'This is Uncle George who travels and writes.' The glamour was too much and I ran and hid behind the curtains, but the memory is still vivid. Later, much later, I found that Uncle George had indeed traveled abroad a good deal, not always for very creditable reasons, and that his one piece of writing was a letter to The Times complaining about the discomfort of French trains. And no one was quite sure they had published even that."

DROPPING THE PARROT

The Times of London

"Grand African Grey Parrot, numerous sentences, £45 or exchange Budgetary." This is the sort of advertisement which arouses the detective, the potentially world-famous detective, who is latent in each of us. We can understand the owner of a parrot being obliged for one reason or another to offer the bird for sale; he may be going abroad; there are a dozen possible reasons for the sacrifice. But none of them chimes with his alternative proposal, which is to accept in exchange for the parrot an unspecified number of budgetary. As companions in exile two or three brace of Australian grass parakeets (which, as we all know, is what budgetary were before they achieved their present social status) would no doubt be a great source of consolation; but, although most of us find it painfully easy to imagine a situation in which we need £45, it is much harder, it is indeed almost impossible, to reconstruct the circumstances in which this requirement could be sublimated into one for a covey of budgetary.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"I SEE," said the Elevator Man, "that the Communist newspaper reporters in Prague gave Trygve Lie the laugh when he arrived there. He said he was trying to keep party politics out of United Nations affairs, and the boys bust right out. They oughta smile when they laugh like that, pardner. Lie is too good a man to be treated that way. However, the newsmen may have been laughing at orders. Reporters in Prague these days laugh—and write—the way they're told. Otherwise they may find themselves gathering material for a book along the John Gunther line—'Inside Siberia.' Mind your step!"

"A laugh," said the Elevator Man, "doesn't always mean what it says. It may mean you're just happy. It may show relief, it may be bitter; it may indicate the exact opposite of what it's supposed to. That's a laugh doesn't necessarily mean there's anything humorous going on. Maybe quite the reverse. So when the Prague lads gave Lie the hahaha there's a good chance they might have been really laughing at themselves and the hopelessness of their own situation. They're probably in a tough spot where they'll do anything for a laugh, like the clerk of the court who before he leaned back in the dentist's chair made the dentist swear to pull the tooth, the whole tooth and nothing but the tooth. Going down!"

"According to the old proverb," said the Elevator Man, "a little laughter now and then is relished by the wisest men. It's surprising what a laugh will do in the right place. It's surprising what a laugh will do in the wrong place! Looking at the world today it's surprising there are any laughs any place. Apart from man, the only living creatures that laugh are parrots, hyenas and jackasses. We seem to be in funny company but I guess we'll just have to laugh it off."

WATERING IMPORTANT

Wrong Methods Waste Thousands Of Gallons

By JACK G. BEASTALL

A few weeks ago Art Douglas of the Island Gladiolus Gardens gave an excellent talk on the care of glads during the summer months.

His first caution was not to water the planting until the top growth is at least one foot high. The idea is to get the roots going downwards in search of moisture. Instead of drawing them to the surface where they will suffer during the summer months.

Secondly, when you do water—don't sprinkle. Thousands of gallons of water are wasted every season by gardeners who dampen the surface every day, instead of giving sufficient to soak down for six or eight inches, and giving no more for three or four weeks.

TEN-DAY PROGRAM
In strongly advising the 10-day spray program for thrips, he stressed the necessity for doing a proper job, otherwise both time and materials are wasted.

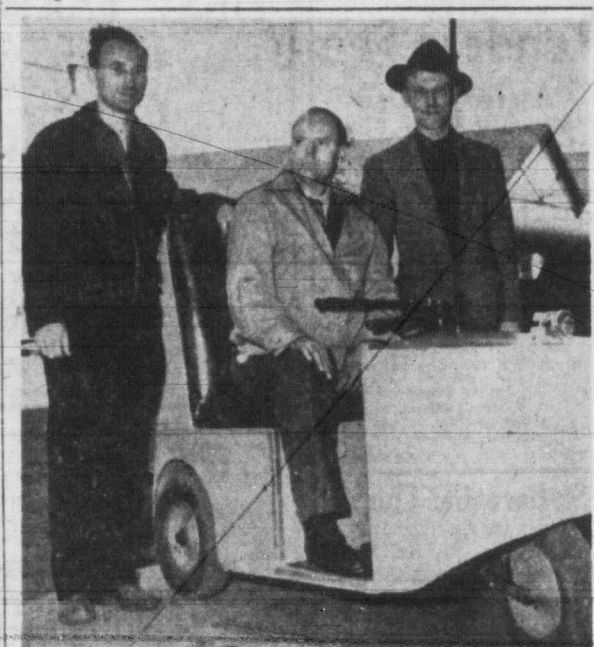

Both sides of the fan of leaves must be thoroughly covered, but the spray should not be applied until it runs off. To be effective, the poison content of the spray must remain on the leaves after the liquid carrier has evaporated.

This is the reason that sprayers are designed to give an exceptionally fine mist. If we dwell at one point long enough to let the droplets join together the poison simply runs off to the ground.

DDT 50 per cent Wettable has been used successfully in the past but it leaves white residue which some gardeners do not like. The new product, Zerdane, with a chlordane base, was tried out in the gladiolus gardens last year and gave excellent results.

It leaves no disfiguring deposit on the foliage and the residual effect lasts for about 21 days. This means that protection may be secured with only one-half the number of applications during the season.

The problem of transportation for Mr. Fred Blakeney of the Blakeney Studio, Johnson Street, well-known commercial artist who recently lost the use of his legs, has been solved by Mr. Elman Ackerman, shown at left above with Mr. Blakeney and Mr. Art Pigott on the right. When Mr. Blakeney's affliction made it impossible for him to move about the electric chair was conceived by him and built by Mr. Ackerman of the A. & B. Machine Works, 438 Kingston Street, and Mr. Pigott of Jones Batteries, Quadra Street, in their spare time. The chair is very maneuverable and after four months of constant use has proved very successful. Mr. Blakeney travels to and from work daily and occupies the chair while conducting his business during the day. The chair is electric with changes. It has 5 speeds ahead and a reverse, is hand controlled, equipped with head and tail lights, automatic hand signals, horn and 4-ply tires.

Tory Party Gains 210 Seats In U.K. Municipal Elections

LONDON (AP)—Final returns in city and town council elections in England and Wales gave the Conservative Party an edge over Labor candidates.

With 3,217 seats contested in 378 boroughs, Winston Churchill's Conservatives showed a net gain of 210 seats at the expense of Labor, Liberal and Independent candidates.

Morgan Phillips, Labor Party secretary, refused to see the results of Thursday's balloting as a trend toward the right. He said:

"There is no evidence on which the Conservatives can claim to have gained any ground since the general election (Feb. 23)."

Labor showed a net loss of 79 seats, the Liberals dropped 22 seats, and the Independents 109.

Three Charges Struck Out After Review Of Findings

A review by the Minister of National Defence of the court martial proceedings held in H.M.C.S. Naden, Jan. 23, for Lt. (S) W. C. Mundy of Vancouver has resulted in three charges being stricken from the record, naval authorities here have announced.

Three charges of negligence in the performance of his duties and three charges of fraudulently omitting to account for moppies received were originally found proved against Lt. Mundy by the court.

After reviewing the findings and sentence of the court, the minister declared that the three charges of "fraudulently omitting to account" were a nullity on the grounds that the charges had not been properly found proven.

The sentence of two years' loss of seniority, dismissal from his ship, H.M.C.S. Ontario, and a severe reprimand passed by the court remains unchanged.

THE VOICE OF ONE

Modern Strains On Marriage Demand Increasing Concessions

By FRANK S. MORLEY

Someone once used a most descriptive phrase for the modern family, "Home, Swift Home." Families don't stay in one place very long, marriages don't last very long, and nobody sits still for very long. If, as Ruskin says, the history of a nation is the history of its households, then we have reached a critical stage of development.

Of course a major reason for the breakdown of modern marriage lies in our industrial civilization wherein women can support themselves and men no longer require women to make their clothes, cook their food, or perform a thousand tasks now performed by business firms. Marriage, however, suffers from other more fundamental troubles.

TOO MUCH HOLLYWOOD

By means of flowers and showers, youth gets married in rosy clouds convinced that the answer to all problems lies in the words, "Love will find a way." If young couples are asked if they have thought on the problems of marriage they reply, "We love one another." As if any couple gets married without loving one another. We have too much Hollywood love. True love is not merely an emotion. It is a way of living, a sharing of interests, a kindred feeling and taste, an interaction of life which leads to deep understanding.

Will Rogers said, "God bless the American home, even if no body stays in it any more." Why is there less home life? We have more leisure and more home entertainment than a generation ago. We have the radio, comfortable homes, hobbies and the possibility of cultivating the fine arts. I know a family that at its meals discusses certain definite subjects on which the members

"read up" previously. It is a happy family.

Good marriages are not made in Heaven; they are an achievement of good people. Getting married and having a baby does not automatically create a family. The phrase "lived happily ever after" has killed many a marriage. Nobody can and nobody should be always happy. Nor is there such a thing as perfect mating. All of us are different at times and we should learn to recognize and respect moods in our partners. We must accept one another with weaknesses. Alas for that doubled stupidity which boasts, "We never had a disagreement in our lives."

MORON'S OPTIMISM

Nor should we marry in the hope of changing the other person. Such an attitude lacks respect for personality. To marry anyone in the hope that he will change is the optimism of a moron. A dangerous thing in marriage as in all life is trying to justify yourself after an angry scene. If there is any stock-taking, try to see where you were wrong. Do more self-criticism. Of course, if you wish to break up a marriage do bring up the subject again and again and go into long recriminations. How men hate women who nag! We should have more premarital education: ignorance is not bliss.

I believe men and women get married for much different reasons, because they are so fundamentally different. Men marry primarily for companionship; women marry primarily for security. It is important, therefore, to understand one another. There should be sensible sex education. Extremes in information or ignorance are destructive. The sex problem, however, is not the fundamental trouble in most divorces. Sex harmony is a result of understanding, sympathy and affection. Most couples who tell me they are "breaking up" use the words, "We have nothing in common." The chief reasons for matrimonial shipwreck are emotional immaturity, infantileism that expects cooing indulgence, sex ignorance, personal maladjustment, and failure to handle finances.

DESERVE JAIL

I would treat as a common criminal and impose a jail sentence on anyone guilty of breaking up a marriage. It is a tragedy for children and imposes a frightful emotional strain beyond calculation. Divorce is especially severe on girls and a girl from a divorced home is three and a half times as likely to get into serious trouble as a girl from a healthy home.

The feeling of rejection leads to tragic emotional behavior in the adult which manifests itself as social hostility, loneliness, insecurity, or some other devastating experience. Delinquents come for the most part from broken homes.

Pioneer Missionary Passes In England
In a letter received by Miss Kathleen Agnew from Canon E. F. Laycock, formerly of Victoria and now of Southborough, Eng., Canon Laycock tells of the death in Tunbridge Wells, Eng., of Canon J. H. Keen, a pioneer member of the Missions Society of England to Canada, who was well-known in Victoria for his work at the Metlakatla Mission, near Prince Rupert.

Pioneer Missionary Passes In England

Canon Keen was 99 years of age. With the death of this nonagenarian, Canon Laycock is the only living member of the pioneer missions society.

urer; Dr. C. A. Watson, president, Victoria branch; Vic Obeck, director of athletics, and Lorne Gales, general secretary.

Nearly Every Class Since 1900 Represented At McGill Reunion

University days were recalled by members of the Graduates Society of McGill University, Victoria branch, at an annual meeting held in the Century Room of the Monterey Restaurant Friday. Nearly every graduating class since 1900 was represented at the reunion.

Speakers were Colin W. Webster, honorary-treasurer and also chairman of McGill Alma Mater;

Tip Toppers Club Members To Carry Tall Man's Load

If you are in the habit of looking down on your friends—physically speaking, of course—but are getting tired of it, a club is to be formed at the Y.M.C.A. to solve your problem.

A member of the Tip Toppers' Club in Ontario and Vancouver, six-foot, three-and-a-half-inch Guy Roxby will attempt to form a club based along the same lines here next Wednesday evening at the Y.M.C.A. commencing at 8.

Main purpose of the club is for social purposes such as dancing, but the members will also press for special consideration from tailors, Mr. Roxby said.

Only persons who need to apply are males six feet, one inch, or females five feet, 10 inches.

Progress Made In Hospital Plan Wage Deductions

Compulsory payroll deductions for hospital insurance premiums gradually being applied through B.C. industry means $1.75 a month off the cheques of single persons and $2.75 a month for persons with dependents.

Revised hospital insurance regulations made known Friday at the Legislative Buildings establish these monthly deductions and provide also for collection by employers of premiums in arrears from employees when compulsory payroll deductions become operative.

Work in bringing the compulsory payroll plan into effect one company at a time, was reported by hospital insurance commission officials to be progressing satisfactorily.

A form of negative billing which met with general approval in discussions with business and industrial leaders, is being employed.

Plan Unification Of Teachers' Pay

NANAIMO (CP)—A uniform salary schedule, with one arbitration board, for all school teachers will likely be sought by the newly-formed Vancouver Island School Trustees' Association.

"One arbitration for the whole island will save a great deal of expense," Trustee P. R. Leighton of Cowichan told a meeting here. "It will also eliminate ill-feeling between teachers."

At the meeting the Mid-Island Trustees' Association voted to amalgamate with the South Vancouver Island School Trustees' Association.

Final steps in the unification will take place May 29 when representatives of North Saanich, Sooke and Greater Victoria School districts vote on the plan.

Farmers' Debate Has Varied Topics

Commons Kept Busy For Day But None Of Estimates Passed

OTTAWA (CP)—It was farmers' day in the Commons Friday.

Members from Canada's western agricultural areas held the floor most of the day. They had plenty to say, most of it critical, to Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

Their first opportunity came when Mr. Gardiner introduced amendments to the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, under which western farmers suffering drought or other disasters get financial help. Another, even wider, opportunity came when Mr. Gardiner tabled his departmental estimates.

But there was so much talking that not an item of the estimates totaling $37,000,000—got through.

Everything from wheat to hogs and tree fruits came in for discussion. There was criticism of the proposed P.F.A.A. amendments and other facets of agricultural policy. There also were some suggestions and a few personal puts on the back for the minister.

In a general statement, Mr. Gardiner said Canada's butter stocks, totaling 17,000,000 pounds, was not a surplus. And the government's floor price helped the consumer as well as the producer.

He called on western farmers to produce more beef and not worry about "getting back to hogs immediately." There was money to be made in beef. As for wheat, he never had advocated reducing wheat acreage and believed that by rotating crops and using about 20,000,000 to 23,000,000 acres a year for wheat, Canada would produce more than under any other system.

In reply to an appeal from O. L. Jones (C.C.F., Yale) for consumption of more apple juice—a new industry in the fruit-growing areas of British Columbia—Mr. Gardiner said he had always supported apple juice as an ideal breakfast drink.

Mr. Jones also urged that Canada seriously consider barter deals with other nations. H. W. Herdridge (C.C.F., Kootenay West) appealed for a national water conservation policy. D. C. Harkness (P.C., Calgary East) said western farmers were not producing as many hogs now because they couldn't afford the high prices for coarse grains.

R. R. Knight (C.C.F., Saskatoon), Victor Quelch (S.C., Acadia), Robert Fair (S.C., Battle River), Percy Wright (C.C.F., Melfort) and Douglas Harkness (P.C., Calgary East) were among others who got into the debate.

It is anticipated the unions will apply for certification as bargaining agents within a short time.

Steps have been taken to unionize employees at Producers' Sand and Gravel Co., Ltd., pits at Albert Head.

It has been announced the Gravel Pit, Quarries and Building Supply Union, a branch of the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers' Union, has signed up 29 workers at the pits, while the Teamsters' Union has signed up one driver.

A type of sports revival was needed in Canada, the speaker stated. He suggested all service clubs ban together in the city to press for the erection of a sports auditorium.

It is a wonder so many fine athletes have been produced here with the type of athletic facilities we have," Mr. Humber said.

Criticism of the lack of athletic facilities in the city was voiced by Bruce Humber in his address to members of the Optimist Club at a luncheon meeting.

Lawyers and Doctors

A Difference

When a person gets sick he goes to a doctor. A person cannot, of course help getting sick.

A person CAN, however, in most cases, avoid getting into legal trouble if he goes to a lawyer BEFORE he SIGNS or becomes committed by accepting money or other acts. He can often thereby save himself trouble, expense and worry.

In case of accidents or unexpected trouble people should not make statements or admissions at the time, as they may not be in the wrong at all.

Tom Halbert will play rover in the league's seven-man game, while Al Hudson will be on wing with Vic Jones on the other. The pivot man is Jackson Walker. The second string finds Ken Druce and George Winter on defence with Mel Davidson as rover and Art Green, Den McGee and Wilf Scott on the attacking unit.

Handsome Prize Lists Announced For Fish Derbies; Shoot Sunday

By ROY THORSEN

Whether the fishing is good or otherwise—and some people seem to think this is going to be a good year from the showing to date—the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association directorate is busy shaping up things for richer prize lists for the 1950 derby program.

They have already gathered $800 worth of prizes for the opening membership competition June 18 in Saanich Inlet. This includes a refrigerator for the derbyist landing the biggest salmon and a television set for the non-fishers. Work is well under way preparing for the July 23 monster salmon derby for the Queen Alexandra Solarium—the derby that each year is thrown open to the public. This prize list will be worth well over $1,200, featuring a $800 radio-phonograph with an album of 40 records.

Stan Ball, Chinook Club president, heads the competition committee this year and he'll have Harry Woolston backing him all the way in promoting the derby to provide the Solarium with funds.

OTHER PRIZES

There will be nine other fishing prizes for the opening derby, as follows: 2 portable radio; 3 camping-plene set; 4 combination toaster-waffle iron; 5 pressure cooker; 6 Peetz reel; 7 electric kettle; 8 two-quart thermos equipped with a tap; 9

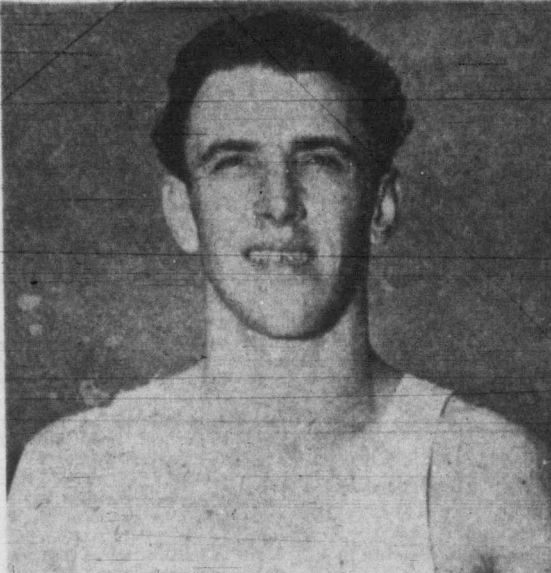

Oak Bay Track Champions Crowned

Making a clean sweep of all five events in which she entered, Lynn Newton, left, yesterday won the senior girls' aggregate in the Oak Bay High School track and field championships. Irene Young took the junior girls' aggregate with three firsts and a second for a total of 18 points.

GERRY ROVERS turned in the outstanding performance of the afternoon at Oak Bay High School Friday by totaling 28 points to lift junior boys' aggregate championship at annual track and field meet. Rovers had five firsts and one third in six events.

SENIOR BOYS' track and field champion of Oak Bay High School is John Johnson. He compiled 23 points in yesterday's meet with four firsts and one second. Johnson won the 100-yard dash, high jump, hurdles and Broad jump.

LAMOTTA-GRAZIANO SIGN FOR TITLE BOUT JUNE 14

NEW YORK (UP)—The middleweight muddle was clarified considerably today by an agreement between champion Jake LaMotta and ex-champ Rocky Graziano for a 15-round title fight at Yankee Stadium, June 14.

Each will receive 30 per cent of the net gate and the brawl is expected to draw more than $200,000.

Although the terms are settled, Graziano will not sign until the International Boxing Club settles with the New York Managers' Guild in their dispute over television receipts at Madison Square Garden shows.

LaMotta will be making his first defence of the 160-pound crown that he won from the late Marcel Cerdan at Detroit, June 16.

WEAK PITCHING RUNS VICTORIA

Smith, Mooty Unable To Hold Tacoma Club

By PETE SALLAWAY

Continuing to suffer from the lack of solid pitching, Victoria Athletics dropped their second straight game to the W.I.L.-leading Tacoma Tigers last night by an 11-to-8 score. The supposedly strong local mound corps cannot provide the club with any semblance of balanced pitching and until it straightens around the Athletics are going to have their troubles getting out of the cellar.

Last night it was Ronnie Smith, Jake Mooty and Jim Hedgecock who paraded to the mound in that order. Smith, although given a 4 to 0 lead in the first inning on the strength of first baseman Jim Wert's inside the park grand slam home run, went out under fire in the third inning after the hustling Tigers had tied the score at 4 to 4.

Twice the Athletics gave Mooty a one-run lead but he couldn't hold it and took an early shower when lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth. During his sojourn on the hill Jake gave up six runs including a towering home run by Dick Greco with one on in the sixth inning to give Tacoma the lead for the first time at 7 to 6.

Athletics came back with a single run to deadlock the score in the seventh then the roof fell in.

COSTLY ERROR

It is hard to believe that a "bleeder" could break up a ball game but that's just what took place although Mooty helped with a useless attempt to throw the batter out. It happened this way. With two away in the eighth Larry Lee and Greco smashed clean singles. Wimpy Quinn was purposely walked to get at Glenn Stetter who had four straight hits to his credit in previous appearances. Badly fooled on a pitch Stetter hit a weak roller towards third. It was a cinch hit but Mooty elected to throw to first and heaved the ball miles over Wert's head and, before it could be retrieved, three runs had crossed the plate and that was the ball game. Tacoma picked up their 11th run off Hedgecock in the ninth.

Gene Thompson picked up a double to run his consecutive hitting streak to 15 games. Tacoma used three pitchers during the longest game of the season so far at the local park, with Gil Loust, who replaced starter Hufford in the fourth, getting credit for the win. Loust went out himself in the eighth in favor of Mel Knezevich.

Clubs wind up their series with two games today, following which the Athletics take to the road for a week.

Runner-up Salem's four-game win streak was snapped by Spokane 3 to 1 in the first game of a series at the Oregon capital city. Wenatchee took its turn at bumping the Yakima Bears with a 1 to 0 decision over the defending champions on a 10th inning squeeze play. The Tri-City Braves completed the slate by capping the Capitanos at Vancouver 8 to 3.

Ward Rocky's tight six-hit hurling gave Spokane its win at Salem. Rocky was stung in the pinches while the Senators' Bob Stevens had three walks to get him in trouble in each of the innings in which the Indians scored.

WIN ON SQUEEZE PLAY
Yakima dropped its fourth in a row in the opener of a home series when Wenatchee's Hank Sciara laid down a perfect bunt to squeeze in Don Fracchia in the 10th inning.

Tri-City plans to ask manager and general handyman Charley Peterson to reconsider his announcement that last night was his first and last appearance on the hill this season. Peterson set down Vancouver with 10 hits and got three-for-four at the plate. Jim McKeen's homer with the sacks full in the sixth was the big blow and accounted for half of Tri-City's runs.

WORLD SKATE CHAMPION TURNS PRO

Aja Vrzanova To Join Ice Follies For Winter Tour

MONTREAL (BUP)—Aja Vrzanova, Czechoslovakian figure skater and reigning world's champion, has decided to relinquish her amateur status and turn professional.

The charming Prague skater said last night she had signed a pro contract with the Ice Follies, which opens in Hollywood in September.

Miss Vrzanova, who fled Czechoslovakia last February after the Communist government took power, said she could "hardly believe it" when Roy Shlipstad, part owner of the Follies, contacted her to sign up with his ice show.

FROM THE FANSTAND

By PETE SALLAWAY, Times Sports Editor

Annual bid by the Pacific Coast League to be freed from the major league baseball draft is amusing inasmuch as president Clarence Rowland's circuit rates definitely as the third best of the three triple A leagues in operation. Majority of baseball men are agreed that both the International League and the American Association rate a higher category than the west coast loop.

It is well known the Coast League suffers through being too far removed from major league operations. Any promising young players the big league clubs want to farm out are sent to one of the triple A teams in the east where their scouts can keep a close tab on them. They are also available for immediate recall.

Rickey's Statement Tells Story

Not so long ago Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and one of the keenest baseball finds in the business, made a remark that gives one his opinion of the Coast League. "Any player sent to our Hollywood club on the coast can be figured as not going anywhere in the Brooklyn organization." In other words Rickey sends players to Hollywood with the hope they will come up with a good season and can be sold to some other major club.

Take shortstop Buddy Hicks, for example. He had a big year in 1929 with St. Paul in the American Association and was promptly shipped out to Hollywood. Apparently the Dodgers do not rate Hicks as major league material and are hoping to deal him off. Hicks played in the W.I.L. for one season when Brooklyn had a team at Spokane under the management of Ben Geraghty.

When Will Mooty Be Ready?

Followers of the Athletics have been asking the question: "When is Jake Mooty going to start again?" Before the start of the season and while the W.I.L. club was in training at Kamloops the name of Mooty was talked around as the one fellow who could be counted on as providing the team with a "stopper." A veteran, long on experience in major and triple A ball, he was rated a cinch to win in the class B circuit. To date Jake has not been able to get anybody out in each start he has made. And Friday night he was not impressive in a relief role.

From what I can learn around the ball park Mooty still claims he is not ready. Let's hope the season is not half gone before he gets around to taking his regular turn on the mound. With a seven-man pitching staff the club cannot afford to wait too long for a fellow to hit his stride. And with the Athletics in the cellar I know business manager Reg Patterson and manager Marty Krug don't intend to wait much longer.

Our Racing Future Looks Bleak

With the horse racing season scheduled to get started on the prairies next week-end, and the first mainland meeting set to open late in June, one is reminded that nothing has been heard lately about the future of the sport of kings in Victoria. It would seem this city has dropped into the background as far as horse racing is concerned. With the disposal of the Willows track the death knell of racing was sounded in this city for some time. Those tracks out at Sidney could never be operated with any hope of showing a decent financial return for the required outlay. To operate racing successfully here a track has to be located within a reasonable distance of city centre.

Bowling Congress Opens Membership To Negroes

COLUMBUS, O. (UP)—The American Bowling Congress, bowing to legal action that "would put us out of business," threw its membership open to negroes today by removing the "for whites only" clause from its constitution.

Facing suits in five states, A.B.C. convention delegates, in an overwhelming voice vote, did away with the racial restriction yesterday after listening to an appeal from attorney Michael Dunn of Milwaukee, the organization's general counsel.

"The lawsuits go to our very life," said Dunn. However, the bars were not completely removed for negro membership in the thousands of A.B.C. organizations. Dunn pointed out that city associations still will "decide the acceptability of their members."

FINED $2,500
The A.B.C. faces loss of its charter and injunctions in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Ohio and New York. In the Illinois case, Superior Court Judge John B. Sbarbaro of Chicago fined the organization $2,500 for discriminating against negroes and threatened to revoke its charter. Dunn said an unfavorable press had caused the A.B.C. "to suffer in the court of public opinion." It already had cost the A.B.C. $40,000 to fight lawsuits and additional suits, particularly in New York, could be expected, he added.

Hair-Raising Jump

Ken Ridgway's hair stands on end as he clears the bar in a sports meet at University of London against the University of Paris.

Newton-Johnson Track Champions

A landslide of points by all four champions featured Oak Bay High School's annual sports day Friday afternoon. Lynn Newton took the senior girls' aggregate for the second year in a row. The tall dark flash had the biggest sweep in the history of the school. She carried off every senior girls' event for 25 points.

Boys' senior aggregate went to Johnny Johnson with 23 points, while junior champions were Irene Young and Gerry Rovers, who had 18 and 26 points, respectively.

Miss Newton won the 100-yard hurdles, the 100-yard dash, the 60-yard dash, the high jump and the broad jump. Johnny Johnson won the century, the hurdles and both jumps and took second in the 220. Gerry Rovers looked exceptionally impressive in winning the broad jump and taking third in the high jump, and winning all three sprints, the 100, 220 and 440. Miss Young had firsts in the 100 and 60-yard dashes, won the high jump and placed second in the broad jump.

TRIPLE WINNER

Dick Haies was another triple winner. He won the senior quarter, half and mile in one of the best performances of the afternoon, taking runner-up spot for the senior aggregate with 15 points.

House 1 garnered 188 points in their one-sided victory for the house championship. House 4 was second with 144 points. Houses 2 and 3 followed.

Times were fast in the sprints due to the brisk tailwind. The best effort was probably Johnson's 10-second hundred. Haies' 54.3 quarter was another good performance.

The many novelty events were received with their usual enthusiasm. Following the meet prizes were presented by Mrs. J. A. deBourcier.

Olympic House Captures Title At Track Meet

Although the result of Monday's baseball play has to be added to the final tally, Olympic House walked off with the annual Mount View High School track and field day Friday with a commanding 50-point lead over the runner-up Selkirk to walk off with top honors for the year. Olympics amassed a total of 183½ points throughout the year. The Cascades trailed with 113.

In the senior boys' events, Olympic House walked off with the 100-yard dash, 220, 880, the mile, relay and broad jump. George Wilmut captured both the senior boys' 100-yard and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump, while housemate H. Martin hit the tape first in the 880-yard and mile events.

New Balk Rule Big Help To Yanks' Tommy Byrne

NEW YORK (UP)—Wild man Tommy Byrne of the New York Yankees is a better pitcher because of the new balk rule and because catcher Yogi Berra gets a buck every time he hollers "stop."

Byrne, a guy with million-dollar stuff and 10-cent control, almost lost his job with the Yankees once, because he couldn't get the ball over the plate.

This year after Byrne had been knocked out of the box in his first two starts and had been called three times on the new balk rule which requires a full second hesitation before delivery, manager Casey Stengel said to Berra: "Tell that guy to stop before he throws. Every time you holler 'stop' you may save us a ball game, so I'll give you a buck each time."

By slowing Byrne to comply with the balk rule, he also calmed him with men on the bases and the lean lefty now has the poise needed for dependable hurling.

FOUR STRAIGHT

Last night he committed no balks, and what is more important, issued only three walks in pitching an eight-hit, 3 to 2 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics for the fourth Yankee victory in a row.

Jerry Coleman hit the third homer of his big league career with two men aboard and gave Byrne all the runs he needed. Byrne would have had a shut-out but for a two-run homer by Sam Chapman.

The Red Sox moved into third place by topping the Washington Senators 3 to 1 at Boston. Mickey McDermott outpitched Ray Scarborough. Wait Drop hit his third straight single to drive home what proved to be the winning run.

At Cleveland, young Al Rosen blasted his seventh homer, with two men on base, and the in-

Hermit Living In Remote Region Of New Zealand Scorns A-Bomb

DUNEDIN, N.Z. (CP)—Atomic-age-hermit Jules Berg could some day be the last man left on earth.

If in some future war atomic or hydrogen bombs were to send death-dealing radioactive waves around the world wiping out all life, Berg would stand a good chance of being the lone survivor.

For 25 years he has lived alone on Preservation Inlet, probably the least susceptible area on earth to radioactivity.

For one thing, Berg's inlet is about as far from likely centres of conflict as any place on earth. In addition, its climate and topography provide natural protection against radioactive air.

Preservation Inlet is a fiord in the extreme southwest corner of New Zealand. A deep, narrow arm of the sea, it runs inland for about 20 miles between steep mountain walls which would tend to block radioactive clouds. And its dense rainfall would clear death-dealing matter out of the atmosphere.

Fiord County, in which Preservation Inlet falls, covers more than 3,000 square miles and has a population of eight. It is mostly dense forest and jagged mountain and is still largely unexplored. The only feasible access to the inlet is by sea.

Berg lives in the remote spot like a comfortable Robinson Crusoe. He has a cottage and extensive vegetable garden and gets fresh meat from an ingenious deer trap in the adjacent forest. Occasional visitors swear to the potency of his parsnip wine.

What's more, he has a gold mine right on the premises which he works when he feels like it, but as civilization provides little he needs, he usually lets the gold stay where it is.

Lucky Break For Newsboy

LONDON (CP)—No news was good news for a newspaper boy here.

When a movie projector broke down during a newsreel at a theatre, the manager sent an usher outside to buy the boy's entire stock of the latest edition. These were distributed with the manager's compliments to the theatre's patrons while they awaited the continuance of the newsreel.

Children Fed At School Gain Faster Than Others

Tests Made In Toronto Show Those Eating Only At Home Less Fortunate

TORONTO (BUP)—The Red Cross reports meals like those mother used to cook didn't make the biggest babies.

On the contrary, a report issued by its central council says children who eat scientifically-prepared noonday meals at school make better physical progress than those who went home to lunch.

But at the same time Dr. E. Chant Robertson, a woman nutrition specialist, said there was no justification for free noonday school meals at public expense except possibly in day of depression.

What was believed to be a unique experiment in child welfare was made over a two-and-a-half-year period among 1,000 Toronto schoolchildren whose ages ranged from 5½ to 10½.

Six hundred were carefully selected and formed into pairs. One of each pair ate lunch at school while the other went home.

CLOSELY MATCHED

Considerable differences were noticed in each pair as the experiment progressed. Improvement in the school-fed child over the other was noticed in growth, physical fitness, rate of tooth decay and absenteeism. By matching each pair as closely as possible with regard to age, physical characteristics and domestic background, the survey workers were able to maintain perfect control and observation over the experiment.

The survey was financed by the Red Cross national organization, which provided $15,000. Under the direction of Hospital for Sick Children, eight departments of that hospital, the University of Toronto School of Dentistry, the Toronto Board of Education, the Toronto Public Health Nurses' Association and other social welfare bodies co-operated in the research.

Differences in each of the pair were regulated after the meal plan had ended. The survey showed the school lunch group gained an average of a fifth of an inch and a pound and a half in weight over the home group.

Girls not provided with the free meal showed a greater rate of absenteeism. Dental tests revealed little difference between the two groups, except that the school-fed group had better gums. One discovery made by the survey was that among the families whose children received

3,000th Couple Gets Welcome

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (BUP)—Preparations were readied today for the coming of the 3,000th bride and bridegroom to this city of romance.

Civic officials kept "hush-hush" files on proposed plans for the lucky honeymooning couple, as yet unknown and unnamed. First arrangements were started after W. S. Bennett, Chamber of Commerce manager, revealed 2,742 marriage certificates were issued here since June 1949.

With the 3,000th couple near at hand, the city council decided to live up to Niagara Falls' good name, and welcome them in grand style.

"We've got to live up to our reputation of being the honeymoon capital of the world," one civic leader remarked.

G.T.R. Secretary Leaves $166,482

HARROW, Middlesex, Eng. (CP)—Harry Deer, former secretary of the Canadian Grand Trunk Railway, left $53,704 ($166,482), his will disclosed.

After death duties of $18,868 and personal bequests are paid, the remainder will go to British charities.

The Grand Trunk now is part of Canadian National Railways.

Buttons Remembers Canadians' Lessons

WEST WICKHAM, Kent, Eng. (CP)—Canadian soldiers stationed at Coney Hall near here during the Second World War taught Buttons, a cat puppy, to catch pennies in her mouth.

Buttons is a big dog now, but hasn't forgotten what the Canadians taught her.

Mrs. Kathleen Gardiner, Buttons' mistress, estimates the dog has collected about 24,000 pennies in all, or about $100 ($310). Mrs. Gardiner has donated the money to charities, including the City of London Maternity Hospital.

HOW TO GET QUICK RELIEF FROM SORE, PAINFUL PILES

A Candid and Honest Discussion on a Delicate Subject

FOREWORD: This is a frank attempt to give you in non-technical language certain information regarding a widespread and personally annoying physical condition. A condition which not only afflicts countless thousands, but makes them thousands suffer untold discomfort, pain and embarrassment. For too often this condition—as first superficial in itself—can be Nature's warning of more serious trouble to come. We believe every man or woman who suffers from this condition owes it to their own personal comfort to read the statement below.

Leonhardt Proprietaries, Ltd.

Since the dawn of civilization, medical men have carried on a ceaseless war. Not only to save human lives, but to relieve, or, better still, prevent some of the physical afflictions of humanity and the incalculable human misery they cause.

Thus, when a famous physician or a noted scientist makes an important therapeutic discovery or perfects a new surgical technique, the news rings round the world. Yet, even while these front-page discoveries are taking place, some of the most widespread human maladies—"they fever"—"the common cold"—"athlete's foot"—certain digestive disorders—are undergoing constant scientific study and laboratory scrutiny by men the public never hears of... simply because these "everyday" maladies do not seem serious.

Among these seemingly commonplace afflictions are "piles". Those who suffer from this amazingly widespread trouble are burdened with a double hardship. They yearn for relief, but hesitate to seek it—merely because of "false pride", the sheer embarrassment of seeking advice or treatment often makes it preferable to suffer in silence. There is no "drama" about piles. No glamour—no glory—no front-page fame for the man who finds a way to help pile sufferers. The subject itself is mostly taboo... it is seldom, if ever openly discussed. But no man or woman who has known, or now knows, the agonizing, embarrassing torment of itching, burning piles—the loss in business efficiency, in social pleasure, in good looks and vitality and sheer enjoyment of life—will deny that a safe and efficient method for relieving this condition, could well be a far-reaching contribution to human health and comfort.

WHAT ARE PILES?

Piles, as such, are not a primary ailment but result from some condition preceding or associated with them. The contributing conditions that cause piles never originate in the parts affected.

In their early stages, piles are inflamed, distended rectal veins—actually, "varicose veins" in the delicate membranes of the rectum. One of their primary causes—surprisingly often, in fact—is hepatic congestion or torpidity of the liver which results in common, everyday constipation. In ordinary layman's language, here is what happens:

1. When the liver is unduly congested and its normal function is slowed by sluggishness the flow of blood to the liver from the lower bowel is retarded and dozens of small rectal veins become swollen and distended with blood.
2. This sluggish, congested liver action usually causes constipation.
3. With the start of constipation, hard clogging masses form in the lower bowel and colon.
4. These hard masses press upon and irritate or bruise the sensitive, distended rectal veins.
5. Blood thickens and stagnates in the bruised area. The tiny veins become greatly inflamed, over-sensitive, lumpy and thus excruciatingly painful.
6. The pain from these blood swollen veins, plus aggravation of the constipation itself, is "self-perpetuating". The condition increases the itching, burning pain and soreness, which in turn further increases the constipation—which in turn tends to further enlarge and irritate the swollen veins which then become pile tumors. It is a vicious circle.

This is why, from the very onset, piles are sheer torment—as their victims know all too well.

But the agony and embarrassment of piles are only the beginning—really Nature's first call for help. If help does not come in time, if the vicious circle is not broken, there eventually may be only one answer—chronic piles or the surgeon's knife. A big price to pay for lack of knowledge!

Yet, today in many cases, radical action may not be the only answer. More than half a century ago an able and qualified professional man began an intensive study on the whole subject of piles—their cause and effect. He found a means by which this vicious circle may be broken. This man compounded and tried, in his own practice, many different combinations of ingredients. He finally devised a formula of medically proven elements which showed amazing results in 86 out of 100 consecutive cases that came to his personal and professional attention. Proving that piles come from congested conditions inside the body—never from an outside cause—his final formula was an internal remedy, small tablets taken by mouth.

Now, we have been asked by many well-informed persons "how in the world can small tablets taken with a glass of water three times a day help my piles?" But just stop and think as we repeat—"Piles" come from congested conditions inside the body—never from an outside cause. Therefore it is sensible to attack piles from the inside where the trouble starts. To combat piles you need internal medication that actually relieves hepatic congestion, stimulates the liver and bile, gently and effectively eases constipation and works to improve the circulation of blood in the lower bowel. And as proper treatment improves blood circulation in the lower bowel the healing forces of Nature take hold and promote a healthier condition in the sore, painful areas where piles are found. That is why you need internal medication if you want to relieve the unnatural congestion that is the real cause of piles. It is on that sound reasoning this man originated an internal treatment for piles.

He gave his formula the trade name of Hem-Roid and began to use it not only in his own practice, but also to furnish Hem-Roid to his friends and acquaintances. Several years later, in 1904 he was exact, he sold the formula and name, Hem-Roid was then offered to the general public.

The remarkable results through the use of Hem-Roid are a matter of record extending over the last 50 years. Millions of packages have been sold in various countries throughout the world. Hundreds of users have testified to its quick and efficient action.

SPECIAL NOTE: The makers of Hem-Roid sincerely believe that pile sufferers everywhere will welcome this information. Of course some persons, in very old, long standing, neglected cases should consult a physician. But for the average pile conditions, we know nothing better than Hem-Roid to give you the action and results you desire.

ACCEPT THIS SPECIAL OFFER NOW

We want Hem-Roid to prove itself to you in your own case, so we make this generous offer. Secure from any drug store a package of Hem-Roid, 60 tablets, 20 full days treatment, at the amazingly low cost of $1.50. Use the tablets exactly as directed for 10 days. If, at the end of that time you are not delighted with the results you get, return the unused portion of the package to the drugist and your full purchase price will be refunded without question—you are the sole judge. So you risk nothing—not even the small cost of Hem-Roid, (a few pennies a day), if you are not completely satisfied. And you do stand to gain quick and immeasurable relief from the pain, discomfort and embarrassment you have endured. So why suffer? Why risk costly and perhaps more radical methods when inexpensive Hem-Roid may give you quickly, easily and pleasantly just the help and benefit you seek?

It would show a serious lack of interest in your own personal comfort for you to continue to suffer the pain, itching and soreness of piles when so good a remedy as Hem-Roid may be had at such a small cost. And it is rare indeed that more than 10 days' use are needed to prove its merit. Try it and see for yourself.

Orange Free State Gets New Type Mining Town

Two Shafts To Be Sunk And Buildings To House 50,000 People To Be Erected

JOHANNESBURG (CP)—Preliminary work on two new gold mines in the Orange Free State has begun. The mines are situated about 18 miles north of Welkom and preparations for the sinking of two vertical shafts are being made.

A new town to provide housing and other amenities for employees of the mines will be established in the adjoining farm district.

The district will be divided into two mining areas to be known as the east area and the west area. The first shaft will be sunk in the west area and sinking operations will begin soon. Sinking operations in the east area will begin in a few weeks.

The shaft in the west area will eventually be sunk to a depth of 5,700 feet.

The immediate construction program provides for the building of a shaft office, a hostel to accommodate 1,800 African employees, workshops and a temporary mine store.

The companies which will develop these mining areas have not yet been formed. It will be some time before mining leases are granted. In the meantime, preliminary work is being financed by the Anglo-American Corporation, under whose administrative and technical control the mines will be.

MODERN STYLE

The site of the new town, which will be named Allanridge, lies in the northern part of the mining area. Town planning on modern lines is being carried out. The township will be built in-tially to provide for a population of 50,000, half of whom will be Europeans.

Plans have been drawn up to provide not only houses, but shops, offices, a cinema, schools and sporting and recreational facilities.

Meanwhile, according to a mining survey by the Transvaal Chamber of Mines, there are now 1,580 European mine-workers and 10,420 Africans employed in the Free State gold-field.

Before midsummer more than 1,000 houses will be ready for Europeans, hostels will be ready to accommodate single Europeans, and there will be living-quarters for between 10,000 and 20,000 Africans.

To Save Spire Of Cathedral

SALISBURY, Eng. (CP)—A £100,000 ($310,000) fund has been opened to save the spire of Salisbury Cathedral, generally considered the most beautiful spire in England.

The spire is in urgent need of repairs, which will cost £30,000. An additional £70,000 is needed for repairs to the tower on which the spire stands and the roof below.

While Germany's Chief City Awaits Invasion

Germans in the British sector of Berlin, still clearing away war's rubble, turn their backs on Soviet flags flying from Brandenburg Gate. The sign says, "Boys and Girls, Germany's Capital City Awaits

You" a welcome to the Communist Free German Youth organization which will convene in the city, 500,000-strong, this month, and which has threatened to "capture Western Berlin."

New Dutch-Flemish Periodical Issued In Ontario For Migrants

BLENHEIM, Ont. (CP)—A new Dutch-Flemish language periodical, Ouder Ons, is under way in this Kent County town by a group of five Capuchin fathers busy founding the county's first Roman Catholic seminary.

The name, says Father Otgerus, its editor-in-chief, means literally "Just between ourselves," but more closely says:

'Rainmaker' Sent To Prison

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (CP)—The conviction of a native "wizard" who claimed to be the reincarnation of a famous rainmaker who lived more than 100 years ago, is one of the cases quoted in the annual report of the Commissioner of the British South Africa Police.

The impostor was acclaimed for a while, says the report, and due respect was paid to him. He instituted a system of fines for alleged offences against his "dignity," and local natives submitted because of their fear he would cause the rain not to fall.

His failure to produce rain on demand proved his undoing, and eventually he found his way to the high court, where he was sentenced to five years' imprisonment for fraud, extortion and rape.

"Just between us poor Dutchmen in a new land with a new, confusing language."

When the second edition came off the presses the copies were addressed and stamped by hand to the more than 2,000 Dutch and Flemish subscribers in each of Canada's 10 provinces and many sections of the United States. The paper is still a monthly, but the fathers hope to bring it out semi-monthly by 1951.

One of the other members of the scholarly Capuchin group, Father Mauris, says: "We're trying to bridge a gap... by giving them Canadian ideas in their own language."

The paper includes articles on how to buy a farm, how Canada is governed and a fair quantity of religious news directed directly at Roman Catholic immigrants.

"Most of these people don't understand the English sermons they hear Sundays and until they pick up the English language we'll try to give them spiritual guidance," says Father Otgerus.

Getting Ouder Ons to press the first time was a big enough job, but the problems faded before the priests' persistence. None of them had previous newspaper or magazine experience. They didn't have a penny toward initial expenses.

But the first two issues came out on schedule and have been devoured by immigrant readers. Merchants have been rushing to get advertisements in the new paper—even if they can't understand their ads when they see them in print.

The russet-gowned fathers, who came to Canada from Europe recently themselves, say getting out the paper is "a lot of work."

"Knowing it's doing some good compensates for everything, though."

TIM-BER-LOX

Protects Paint from Peeling and Blistering

A Penetrating Sealer and Paint Mix

Tim-ber-lox is a clear liquid made from the finest, toughest resins and water repellent oils and is used as a thinner for oil based paints or as a clear primer before painting or varnishing.

OUTSIDE PAINTING

In order to secure a good paint job it is first necessary to secure a good ground or prime coat. It is in this prime coat that the addition of Tim-Ber-Lox to paint is highly recommended. Paint with Tim-Ber-Lox added, has superior penetrating and sealing qualities which provide a reinforced foundation against moisture and helps prevent the peeling and blistering of succeeding coats of paint.

PLYWOOD

A single application of Tim-Ber-Lox will prevent warping, buckling, surface checking and will eliminate "Grain Raiser," leaving the surface smooth and uniform for subsequent coats of varnish or paint. It costs no more to use Tim-Ber-Lox as Tim-Ber-Lox replaces the prime coat of paint or acts as a varnish undercoat where plywood is later to be varnished.

THE TRUTH ABOUT TOOTH DECAY

Science has proved that much of the decay that makes cavities is caused by acid-producing bacteria... formed by tiny food particles which remain on the teeth after eating.

To prevent acid-producing bacteria from attaching to the teeth, keep your teeth clean by brushing them immediately after meals.

Pepsodent with Irium gives you the greatest cleansing action you can get. That's the surest way to fight tooth decay is to use Pepsodent immediately after meals. Pepsodent gives you the whitest teeth and when teeth are cleanest they are safest from decay.

PEPSODENT gives the WHITEST teeth

Judges In Britain Feel Wage Freeze Nip Them

Promised Increase Last Year, They Are Now Told They Must Wait

LONDON (CP)—Along with railway workers and coal miners, Britain's high court judges are feeling the nip of the wage freeze.

Promised an increase in salary last May, they now have been told they'll have to wait a little longer.

Home-Care Plan Tested By Hospital

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal's Herbert Reddy Memorial Hospital is experimenting with a plan to ease the shortage of hospital beds.

Col. Wilfrid Bovey, president of the hospital, said the hospital has received a grant from the federal government to carry out a "pilot project" in the care of patients in their homes rather than in hospital beds.

During the past few years various New York hospitals have extended hospital care to patients' homes. The patient remains under the care of his physician and nurses and internists visit him at his home.

The patient will leave the hospital at an earlier date than usual under the Reddy plan and spend the period before complete convalescence at home.

Internists will visit the patient daily under direction of the physician and make reports as if the patient were still in hospital.

"One main difference between our scheme and that in force in New York," said Col. Bovey, "is that New York hospitals are dealing with patients who are public charges and the entire operation is at public expense.

"In our plan the patient, while not paying as much as he would in hospital, will be expected to contribute and when the experiment is over we hope the Home Care section will be self-supporting.

Gatineau Lumber Cut Sets Record

OTTAWA (CP)—A record cut, topping even the boom-time drives of the last two years, has been reached in the pulpwood industry in the Gatineau district this year.

Some 400,000 cords of pulpwood have started their $10,000,000 stampede to sawmills at Hull, Gatineau and Hawkesbury. At $25 a cord—mill price—that is the estimate for this year's drive and it all adds up to big business.

Two thousand men are working with the peevy and pike-pole in the old tradition of the annual lumber drive to get the logs down river.

The spring breakup was held back this year, delaying normal starting time of the drive for a couple of weeks.

The light winter snowfall in the northern bushlands resulted in a hard and deep cover of "black ice" on the lakes. It takes longer to melt than the normal "snow ice."

SUDBURY, Norfolk, Eng. (CP)—A civil defence lecture here was a failure. Out of a population of 8,000 only one person turned up.

ANCOLOUR BONE OF TRADE

Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons their case for more money would be reconsidered "when the economic situation of the country permits."

Anthony Marlowe, Conservative member for Hove, said legislation on judges' salaries had been promised May 3, 1949. He asked whether the government was "going back" on that undertaking.

Sir Stafford said there had been no undertaking. Instead, it had been promised legislation would not be long delayed.

Forty-three high court judges, each receiving £5,000 ($16,500) a year, would be affected by any increase.

It is estimated taxation now takes nearly half the salary of a judge who is married.

A columnist in the Liberal Manchester Guardian suggested the judges might do a little lobbying for an increase.

"A procession of judges in full wig from the Law Courts to Westminster might strike terror into the hearts of the most stubborn of ministers," the columnist said.

Birds Frightened Away By 'Ghost'

SOUTHFLEET, Kent, Eng. (CP)—Battered by rooks which robbed his land of its seed, a Southfleet farmer named Barker has arranged for his fields to be "haunted" by a round-the-clock "ghost."

In addition to keeping a kite—anathema to most birds anyway—flying over them, Barker has fastened it to the carcass of a rook.

Reports are that the warning is proving effective.

Northern Physician Travels Far When Treating Eskimos, Indians

By BERNICE REPATH MACIVER

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—When he graduated from McGill University, Maj. B. L. P. Brosseau didn't dream his practice would one day cover a radius of 500 miles.

Nor did he imagine he would ever treat a patient on a floating ice cake in 35-below-zero weather. But after several years as one of two doctors between here and the North Pole, Maj. Brosseau, head of the nearby military hospital, has learned to take it all in stride.

His patients are the nomadic and illiterate Eskimos and Indians who roam the northern stretches of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories bordering Hudson Bay.

IGNORANCE, SQUALOR Besides disease and injury his enemies are ignorance, squalor, cold and the tremendous distance between camps and settlements.

In the last year he has fought two major measles epidemics and scattered and recurrent outbreaks of tuberculosis, influenza and infantile paralysis. His little hospital becomes jammed with patients brought in by plane, dogsled and on foot.

In March he had 70-odd measles cases at Fort Churchill, a few miles away. Besides supervising the nurses, he traveled to isolated settlements as far as 200 miles away to examine the residents and supply medicine.

Both Indians and Eskimos will allow an epidemic to develop until a whole community is stricken before seeking help. By the time the doctor is called it is almost too late.

But Dr. Brosseau feels he is making some progress with his patients.

An Indian clinic is held weekly. More and more patients travel long distances to have their babies in hospital. Some of his experiences in field visits are hair-raising enough for a Jack London novel.

ON ICE FLOE One time he flew almost 1,000 miles north to Arctic Bay for two patients. After he had landed he spent 48 hours on an ice floe at 35 below zero, trying to keep his patients warm and fed with virtually nothing on hand. He termed the feat "rather difficult."

Another time at North River he examined a suspicious Indian settlement during an epidemic. Chief Peter Bussido, stern in his belt of office, accompanied Dr. Brosseau on the rounds.

When he pointed to the ones who needed hospitalization they all refused to move.

The impasse was almost dangerous until the chief, fixing each patient in turn with baleful hate, jerked his thumb at the door.

The chief's reward: Two gallons of cough syrup.

Man Girdling World On Bet Of One Pound

DURBAN, South Africa (CP)—Jack Murry, Irish-born ex-naval officer, is working his way round the world on a bet. And by working he means working. He's no shirker.

The bet is that he gets around the world in four years and already has $400 ($3,100) at the end of it.

So far the 39-year-old traveler has been going 17 months and already has $400 ($3,100) at the end of it.

The bet—for stakes of only £1—originated in Wanganui in the North Island of New Zealand.

The countries which Jack Murry must visit under the terms of the bet are: North and South America, Britain, any five countries in Europe, India, China, South Africa, the Rhodesias and Egypt.

So far he has been in the United States (where, he says, you can get a job anywhere), Canada ("they take you at face value and give you a chance to prove yourself"), England (the loveliest country in the world and the most peaceful"), his native Ireland, including Cork, his birthplace, France and Italy. South Africa has been the toughest place so far in which to get a job.

DISTANT STAR

THE STORY: Falling in love had been far from Clemency Norton's plans when she became a governess to Baba, small daughter of Syria and Jon Amberley, who live at the home of Jon's brother Piers in Algeria. But soon Clemency finds she has lost her heart to Piers. Syria, despising her wretched husband and in love with Piers herself, is angered over Clemency's engagement to Piers. Jon tells Clemency that before his marriage Syria and Piers were engaged and he only invited them to live at his home so he and Syria could be together. Clemency, indignant over this slur on Piers, goes to see Piers, but finds him talking with Syria. Clemency rushes out of the room, and Syria keeps Piers from explaining. Later Syria appears in the nursery where Baba is ill and leads Clemency to believe that Jon's remarks were the truth.

INSTALLMENT 30

Clemency went softly into the next room, and crossing to Baba's bed, bent down. The child was lying on her back, flushed and breathing heavily. She turned her head restlessly on the pillow and coughed—a short, cruelly hard, dry little cough.

Clemency's heart missed a beat as she slipped a hand under the clothes and felt the small body—it was dry and burning hot, and in an instant she was hurrying in search of a thermometer.

Baba was still lying in a half stupor as Clemency fitted the little glass tube beneath an armpit. She knew enough about nursing to have realized at once that something was very wrong, and as she held the thermometer up to the light and read the tale it told a new fear banished everything else from her mind.

Covering Baba up again she hurried out into the passage, and a few minutes later was knocking impatiently on Syria's bedroom door.

NO ANSWER

There was no reply to either her first or second summons, and trying the door she found it locked. She knocked loudly again, and was still hammering against the paneling when Jon Amberley spoke from behind her:

"What the devil's the matter?" Clemency swung around to find him standing by an open door on the other side of the passage.

"Miss Norton!" He looked at her in amazement. "What's up?" And as she told him his face changed. "Baba ill?" He frowned at Syria's door. "Syria's probably taken some sleeping stuff—anyhow she would be no good. I'd better come with you. What's up—tummy?"

"Oh, no—I could cope with that," she answered. "I'm terribly afraid, Mr. Amberley, that it may be—pneumonia."

"What?" He was interrupted by the opening of Syria's door.

"What on earth's the matter? It's the crack of dawn yet," she said crossly, her eyes heavy with sleep.

PHYSICIAN NEEDED

"Baba's ill," Jon told her curtly. "We ought to get a doctor at once."

"Oh, good gracious!" exclaimed Syria fretfully. "What on earth's the matter with her?"

"Pneumonia," Syria looked at him contemptuously.

"What nonsense—she's got an ordinary cold."

"How could they stand there arguing—and so helpless, thought Clemency angrily.

"I am afraid it may be pneumonia, Mrs. Amberley," she said. "I have seen a case of it before—but the doctor will know. If you will tell me where to ring him—"

"Jon, ring Dr. Rigaud," Syria looked imperiously at her husband.

"I've no idea of his number, and I doubt very much if we'll get through to Biskra at this hour." There was a note of helplessness in Jon's voice.

"Tell Piers," said Syria. "He'll know what to do."

Jon's face darkened. "No need for Piers. I can manage—I'll find Rigaud's number."

As soon as her husband had left, Syria turned to Clemency.

Alleged U.S. 'Red' Times
His New Book Nicely

By ALLEN CAMPBELL

SENATOR JOSEPH MCCARTHY currently staging his colossal extravaganza down in Washington with Owen Lattimore as the star performer, will inadvertently give added interest to Mr. Lattimore's book Pivot of Asia.

An account of Sinkian produce in China, McClelland and Stewart publishers announced its release recently.

The book is the result of a group study made by Lattimore and his associates under a Carnegie grant.

Mr. Lattimore, it will be remembered, was a member of the United Nations Commission investigating Afghanistan's requests for technical and economic assistance, to answer the Republican senator's charge that he was a Communist sympathizer.

If the book shows any of the erudite fire the U.S. government has unleashed over McCarthy's head it should make dandy reading.

OPEN TO ALL

Consulate of Switzerland at Vancouver has called attention to the fourth annual "Charles Veillon Prize" of 5,000 Swiss francs, open to all writers regardless of nationality or domicile, for the best novel in French language.

Works previously published in newspapers or periodicals are admitted, but not those which have already appeared in book form.

These books no doubt serve a purpose but it is cause for thought that studies of this type are best sellers across the nation when they purvey little more than a sense of guilt.

Branded As A Coward

"Cricket in Heaven," by Gerald Bullitt (Doubt).

"Cricket in Heaven" is an attempt by the author to create indignities rather than indignities upon the plot of a novel.

The story concerns Sylvester Clayton, an English aristocrat of the 1850's, who believes he has contracted a plague that is ravaging the countryside.

He fears an untimely remedy pre-ferring to have someone else take the risk of proving its success or failure. When he later finds he has not the disease, he realizes how cowardly and vain his actions have been.

He resolves to be a new man, into a hospital to cure for the victims of the plague and determine to be a better landlord than he was in the past.

The story ends vaguely leaving the reader up in the air. Dialogue of two children however is well handled. The author has given them a human touch that is sadly lacking in the rest of the characters.

—William Bendall.

Turns To Youth

"The Radio Imp," by Archie Bliss (John C. Winston Co.).

When a well-known author of adult books turns his typewriter to the juvenile fiction department, the result could be anybody's guess.

Mr. Bliss who wrote The Laurels Are Cut Down and You Rolling River has produced a swift-paced, intelligent story, with crisp dialogue and child-characters that are other youngsters will find talking like the boy or girl down the street.

That is an achievement for a man who has not many children's books to his credit.

Jim Tompkins lived on Delaney Street in New York's Lower East Side and at 14, his ambition was to own the $11 radio in Bump's second-hand store.

When he gets the radio with a little financial help from Patrolman O'Donnell all kinds of weird and wonderful things befall the Tompkins family. Strange announcements come out of the machine, but when Jim and his sisters, back at a burglar den, they are most of the credit to "The Radio Imp."

THOUGHTS FOR THE WEEK

the same: to speak, and to speak well are two things. A fool may talk, but a wise man speaks.

—Ben Jonson.

But he answered and said unto him that told him, Who is my mother? and who are my brethren? Matthew 12:46.

We are members of one great body. Nature planted in us a mutual love and fitted us for a social life. We must consider that we were born for the good of the whole. —Seneca.

Proclaim ye this among the Gentiles; Prepare ye to war, wake up, the men of war, let all the men of war, let them come up.

—Joel 3:9.

A nation is not worthy to be said to be in the hour of its fate, it will not gather up all its jewels of manhood and life, and go down into the conflict, however bloody.

—A. H. Boyd.

Here's Way
To Paint
That Boat

MANY A SMALL-BOAT skipper would never think of allowing a land-lubber to navigate his craft, nor will he permit the uninitiated to ply the paint brush prior to the spring launching. Just as he knows the many tricks of the trade in navigation, so he knows the pitfalls involved in getting his boat ready for the water.

For those who may lack the experience, here are a few things to watch for if you plan to do any repainting. Remove metal fittings, and wash thoroughly inside and out with hot water and carefully powder. Remove all old paint, and signs of rot, injuries or decay.

Be on the lookout for blistering that has peeled, cracked or blistered. This will mean a complete hull-scrapping and repainting for maximum protection. Otherwise, a general sanding is all that will be required. Use water sandpaper, grade 60 (course for a big job), and finish with fine sandpaper.

Or if the surface is in reasonably good condition, perhaps 100 will do the job alone.

One good reason for removing old paint is so that the coats won't get too heavy, and break down under their own weight. However, it is false economy to attempt to save money by failing to remove paint that should be removed.

Painting should be done in a dry, clear, sunny day. It will prevent decay and deterioration.

MUST BE CLEAN

Always make sure that the surface is perfectly dry, and don't try to paint during a rain or wet day. The surface must be absolutely clean and free from oil and grease.

All cracks, nail or screw holes should be attended to before you get down to the actual job of painting. These may be filled with putty before the priming coat, or seum cement can be used after the priming coat has been applied.

Always be sure to get the right primer for the specific job. Don't use a cheap primer or an ochre primer where satisfactory results are desired. The life and nature of a paint coat depend greatly upon the nature of the surface.

Apply the paint directly to the surface. If the first coat cracks and peels off, so will the finish coats, and all your hard work will have been to no good.

It is well to remember that, in brushing out a coat, the paint or varnish will have to be fairly thin, thus it is always wise to wait for a warm day before attempting to paint. In addition, the materials may stand in a pan of hot water during application so that you will be sure they are of the proper viscosity.

Be sure they are of the proper viscosity, and don't use too much varnish or enamel. To do so creates air bubbles which are detrimental to the finish.

DON'T use outside paint inside. Inside work or vice versa, unless specifically recommended for use in that manner.

DON'T apply paint, varnish or enamel when the surface is too hot. This will cause blistering.

Mother Mouse Feeds
Family The Hard Way

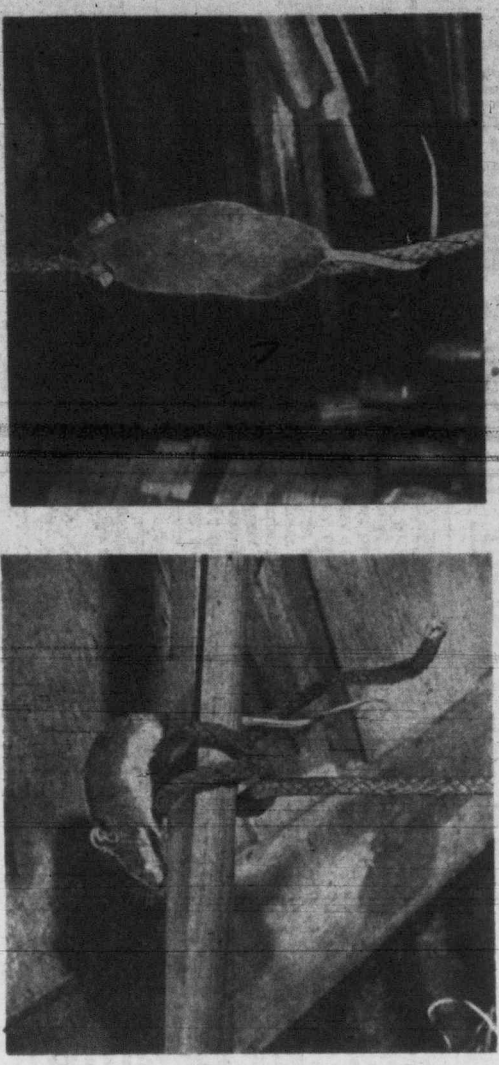

A PHOTOGRAPHER crouched in the corner of a dirty toolshed for the best part of two days to get these remarkable pictures of a mouse, and the length it goes to in getting food for its young.

On a bench in the toolshed stands a bottle of oil—unstopped. Hanging from the roof, its lower end only an inch or so from the top of the bottle, is a piece of cord.

Cramped, motionless, only 18 inches away, the photographer waits. Minutes go by, then hours. But at last patience is rewarded.

Then, her tail held horizontally, so that she loses as little as possible of the precious swag, back about she goes.

And at the journey's end, Mother lays out her tail—while hungry children lick the platter clean!

JACOBY ON CANASTA

Even The Experts Expect To Lose On Poor Hands

By OSWALD JACOBY

EVERYBODY TALKS about good hands," complains Mrs. J. R. S., of Equinault, "but nobody has a word to say about the miserable assortment that seem to come my way whenever I play. For example, take this hand:

K J 10 8-8-3 7-7 6-6 5-4

"Last night I held these 12 cards, after drawing a card, at a time when both sides needed 120 for the first meld. Don't experts ever get a hand like this? If so, is there a magic way of playing such a hand?"

Well, Mrs. S., I was hoping we could avoid this sort of talk. After all, lots of people read this column while they're eating, and just looking at that sort of hand is enough to give them the colic.

As long as the subject is out in the open, however, let me assure you that I could tell you about hands too. I could tell you about hands that would make you burst right into tears! What's more, every expert could tell you the same story.

For another thing, experts are not magicians. They just do the best they can. That's usually enough to prevent disaster, but not enough to win. In a game against skillful opponents you must expect to lose points on your bad hands, no matter how well you play them. And to make matters worse, you must expect to take a really bad beating. That goes for experts as well as for the newest beginners.

I must point out that the expert doesn't jump out the window when he holds a bad hand. For example, with the hand just described, the expert doesn't make a serious effort to scrape together a meld of his own. He would change his mind if he picked up a few more cards, but he wouldn't count on such extraordinary luck.

Instead, the expert plays the hand in the expectation and hope that

FOR STAMP COLLECTORS

Royal Collection Ranks As World's Most Famous

By R. NAIRNE

IN LONDON a book of great philatelic interest is in the course of preparation, for in its 500 pages it will describe and list the fabulous Royal Collection. This wonderful accumulation was started by King George V, who throughout his life pursued the hobby with such enthusiasm that the collection now ranks as the most famous in the world.

The author is Sir John Wilson, curator of the collection, and no pains are being spared to make the book worthy of the subject. It will be lavishly illustrated, most of the outstanding items being shown in natural color. The colored plates alone for this book are expected to cost $35,000.

Probably no one apart from the King and Sir John Wilson has ever seen the entire collection, for there are 214,500 stamps in all! It will be recalled, though, that our well-known local philatelist Gerry Wellbush, who became friendly with Sir John at the big show in N.Y. in 1947, was invited to inspect part of it when he went over to London the following year, and speaking most interestingly of a section of the book will not only have a very large sale, but especially in the U.S., which is probably the main reason for its publication.

Delay Play Of Trump If Hand Is Tough

By OSWALD JACOBY

"I made the percentage play the other day," said a Victoria bridge player, "but it didn't work very well. Please tell me if there was anything wrong with my calculations."

West opened the queen of clubs, and East went "two tricks in that suit, I trumped the third club and drew three rounds of trumps. Then I led a diamond from my hand."

"I reasoned that if West had the ace of diamonds, I would be able to win two diamond tricks in dummy. On one of those I would eventually discard a low heart, after which everything would be in apple-pie order."

"Much to my disappointment, however, East had the ace of diamonds. What I had to give up a trump that I had too. I should have played the hand differently. My Victoria correspondent is evidently an experienced bridge player, and his reasoning was excellent in the main. He simply overlooked the fact that he could have his apple pie and eat it too! There are a great many simple hands in which the best play is to draw trumps as soon as possible. When the hand looks hard, delay to give the trump a second look. You'd be surprised how often it pays to make some other play before drawing trumps. South began this campaign by leading diamonds. He finds out at once that

You Can Bring Your Bathroom Up-To-Date

By ELEANOR ROSS

IT'S GRAND to start from scratch and build a bathroom. Installing all the latest in new plumbing, color scheme. A floor diagram and a list of new standard measurements on the fixtures will give you ideas and, of course, the arrangement determines everything else that can be done to the room for comfort and convenience.

Usually such is not the case, and even with a good remodeling job the fixtures have to stay, save perhaps, for a new medicine cabinet or a lavatory basin. The trick is to add built-in cabinets, shelves, accessories, and to cover up what you do not like.

One good bit of useful camouflage is to build a fitted cabinet around a lavatory basin. If you lack storage space, here is a good place in which to store bathroom supplies, necessities that are so inconvenient stored outside the bathroom. The wood cabinet can be painted or made splash proof.

Whether you retain the old medicine cabinet or not, a new medicine cabinet will make a wonderful improvement. Sunken tubs are ideal, of course.

New Mix Boon To Baking Fans

May Be Used In 77 Ways

By GAYNOR MADDOX

PASTRY, CREAM PUFFS, biscuits and desserts are just a few of the 77 baked products you can make from one basic homemade mix. You make it in advance, store it in a closed canister or fruit jar on the pantry shelf. No refrigeration necessary. It stores well. Here's the know-how: The jobs of measuring shortening and sifted flour, so disliked by the homemaker, are all done at once in advance. The versatile fresh basic ingredients are then ready for quick transformation into a main dish, hot bread or a variety of desserts to add new interest to menus and to complete the meal.

MAKE-YOUR-OWN-MIX (Yield: about 10 cups)

Two cups rich butter, 9 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 cup (4 tablespoons) double-acting baking powder, 1 tablespoon salt.

Combine sifted flour, baking powder and salt. Stir well. Sift into a large bowl or large pan or onto heavy paper. Add shortening. Use finger tips or pastry blender to distribute shortening through dry ingredients until mixture resembles coarse meal. Measure 10 cups into a closed canister or store in a closed canister on your pantry shelf.

TENDER-QUICK PASTRY (Yield: two 8-inch crêpes)

Two cups Make-Your-Own-Mix (do not pack), 1/2 cup butter or fortified margarine, 1/2 cup hot water buttermilk.

Heat butter or margarine in water until melted. Sprinkle over the mix, blending with a spatula or fork. Turn dough into a hot bowl and cover with the paper. Chill at least 30 minutes in refrigerator. Roll out for pastry as needed.

'MAKE-YOUR-OWN' MIX is ideal for tender fruit tarts—a dessert treat for anyone's dinner.

A MENU FOR TOMORROW

Breakfast: Sliced bananas, cornflakes, fried thickly sliced tomatoes, and scrambled eggs, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Creamed flaked white fish on toast, scalloped potatoes, buttered carrots, apple sauce, bread, butter or fortified margarine, baked apples, coffee, milk.

Mother's Day Dinner: Roast chicken, giblet gravy, surprise stuffed baked potatoes, peas with onion, mushrooms, corn, carrots, rolled apples, butter or fortified margarine, assorted fresh fruit tarts (using the Make-Your-Own-Mix), coffee, milk.

How To Pick That Extra Tasty Rib Roast

A RIB-ROAST with pan-roasted potatoes and rich brown gravy is life stuff that makes gravy dreams come true. And "good gravy" in a little cup is as much a part of our childhood as baseball and the circus.

Nothing smaller than a two-rib roast will do. Select one with top government grade or buy by the brand, if you have a favorite packer. Examine the meat as carefully as you would a diamond. It must be flawless.

Look for those nerve-like lines of fat marbling the meat. The more marbling the more tender. The meat should be a rich deep red and the surrounding fat both firm and white. If you inherit money or win a quiz program, get a first cut. An eight-rib roast is usually divided into "first cut," "second or middle cut" and "third cut." The first three ribs immediately adjoining the one left on the hindquarters are the "first cut." These are the so-called prime ribs of beef.

The next two ribs are the "second or middle cut." Some butchers prefer them to the extra fat, explaining that this cut produces a juicier roast. The remaining three ribs are the "third cut." These are the least desirable. The home economists, with prying eyes, beg you to use a seat thermometer. As to the searing or no searing—my answer: happiness comes first. So do what ever makes the heart content.

"third cut." The price varies according to the cut. However, John Paparety, a New York head butcher, uses a seven-rib roast. He calls the first five ribs "choice" and the remaining two "blade." The "blade" costs a few cents less a pound.

John trims his standing roast so that it is only seven inches from tip of rounded end to end of the ribs. That leaves mostly heart cut. He trims off the chine bone (back) and the short ribs before weighing. The result is a short standing roast that's very easy to carve and has no waste.

Allow about one-half pound of meat per serving. Place it in a shallow pan, fat side up. Do not add water and do not cover. Roast in a pre-heated oven at slow (325 degrees F.). How long? Well, how rare? Cook a six-pound roast 2 1/2 hours for rare; 2 3/4 for medium and 3 1/4 for well-done. Take roast from oven five minutes before serving. It settles better for carving.

SWING YOUR PARTNER

The three simple figures in this chapter all start with two couples—four persons—in a circle. When the caller says, "Circle four hands around," the head couple and the couple to its right join hands.

With the dancers in this position, the caller may ask for a "dive for the oyster" like this: "Dive for the oyster, dig for the clam."

"Pass right on through to a happy land." The second couple raises its arms, and the head couple ducks underneath (sketch 1). They go through as far as they can, without letting go of the hands of the standing couple (sketch 2). Then they step back, and the two couples reverse positions. The active couple ducks underneath (sketch 3) and moves on to the next couple, performing the same figure with them (sketch 4).

Another step that starts out with two couples in a circle is the "lady 'round the lady," which has many variations. Here's one call, which is diagrammed (center): "Lady 'round the lady; then the gent 'round the lady; then the lady 'round the gent." You do exactly as the caller says—first the lady circles around the opposite lady and back to position while the man circles around the man and back. Then the man circles around the opposite lady, with the lady going 'round the opposite man and back. Remember, ladies first—in crossing over, the "gent" lets the lady pass in front of him.

Another step that starts from the same basic formation is "eight hands over," which is sometimes called, "ladies join your lily-white hands" (right).

The two ladies join both hands across the circle. Then the men join both hands, too, but their arms are above the girls' arms (sketch 1).

Next the men, still holding hands, raise their arms and lower them behind the girls' backs, as you see them doing in (sketch 2). Finally the girls put their arms around the men's backs, as in (sketch 3).

With the dancers in this position, still holding hands tightly, they circle around as fast as they can to the left.

When the caller says, "break the ring," they all drop their hands. Usually, this is followed by swinging—first the men swing their corner ladies and then their own partners.

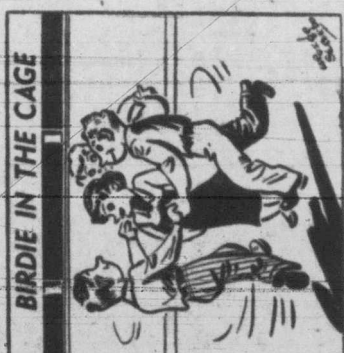

THREE STEPS TO KEEP THINGS LIVELY

Here are three more simple dance figures that start out from the basic pattern of four dancers in a circle. In the average square set, each couple will have a chance to perform these figures with all the other couples in the set.

With the four in a circle, the caller may sing out: "From that star with the right hand 'cross, 'don't get lost."

This figure is usually called the "star by the right" (see sketch at left), but callers often have their own pet phrases. The step is simple—the dancers join right hands, held high, and circle clockwise, usually four steps. Then "back by the left"—they turn around, join left hands, and circle counter-clockwise to where they started.

A star figure may also be formed with eight persons. The "birdie in the cage" pattern (center) is also a four-person figure. It can be danced from a square set, but is more often used during barn dances based on the circle ("form a ring") pattern described in the first chapter.

Here's the call for "birdie in the cage": "Birdie in the cage and a three rail pen. 'Now the birdie hop out and the buzzard hop in.' The 'birdie' is, of course, a girl. One of the girls goes in the center of the ring, and the other three circle left around her. Then the 'birdie hops out' and the 'buzzard'—her partner—hops in and the three in the circle move around him. The 'birdie' or 'buzzard' (some- times) they call the man a 'crow' marks the time while in the center of the circle. At the (right) is a very easy figure danced by two couples, called "ladies whirl." As with the other figures in this chapter, it starts off with "circle up fours"—making four-to-a-circle patterns from the original set (diagram 1).

When the caller says, "ladies whirl," the girls do just that. They spin around to their left, making a full circle (diagram 2). The men meanwhile mark time. Then the call is for "girls whirl." The men spin around, while the girls mark time (diagram 3). Finally, the caller says, "everybody whirl," and they all spin (diagram 4).

GARDENING

Here's List Of Plants Nearly Trouble-Free

By CECIL SOLLY

ONE OF THE GREATEST DESIRES of all good gardeners is to have a yard of attractive flowers which do not get into much trouble either from insects or diseases. It is a well-known fact that most healthy plants, that are growing in a strong and sturdy manner, seldom are troubled. We generally attribute this, and quite correctly so, to the fact that the plants have been able to obtain enough moisture and all the plant foods they needed in sufficient quantity.

When properly blended and balanced plant food of any good brand has been used in the garden, in correct quantity, most plants are quite successful and give excellent results. However, many gardeners have requested "a list of trouble-free flowers, if such a thing existed." To supply this list would be almost impossible, since there are so many different varieties of plants, and the plants named were entirely free from any pest or disease. What plant is?

As far as I am able to ascertain, the only plant which is entirely free from any pest or disease is the fig tree. Probably, it is due to the fact that this was well known to all the ancients inhabiting the "Mediterranean area" in the B.C. period, of the gods. I have, however, succeeded in compiling a list of plants which are not herbaceous perennials that are not only reasonably trouble-free, but that are mostly available at all good plant nurseries.

BLUE LILY OF THE NILE Agapanthus umbellatus is perfectly hardy in this climate. It flowers in late spring and early summer, and is a very strong, straight, 3-foot stem. The leaves are broad and strap-leaved, very similar to the sword-like leaves of Amaryllis. There are also varieties that are white, double and variegated. It is a family.

BLACK LILY OF THE NILE Dracunculus vulgaris is grown from a tuberous root much like the Calla lily. It is perfectly hardy here and may be treated as a herbaceous perennial. It flowers in June, which has a huge purple trumpet-shaped flower, which is a most curious curiosity in a group at some distance from the house. The leaves are oddly shaped and useful as greens for other flowers.

DAY LILY—Lemon Lily Hemerocallis is an old garden favorite. It has been so greatly improved during the past 15 years that some nurseries specialize in them to the extent of offering over a hundred named varieties. Some sorts are quite dwarf (18-20 inches) while others grow normally to four feet. If a careful selection of varieties is made, one may have flowers from May to September. Some, like Hyperion and Flava, are deliciously fragrant.

Colors range from the palest lemon, burnt orange, old rose, orange, burnt orange, apricot, lavender and maroon shades. Plants will grow almost anywhere, but seem to prefer light shade or a place near the pool. The long narrow leaves are always neat and tidy. They are hardy herbaceous perennials, which should be given several "choice" spots in the garden.

FUNKIA OR HOSTA This seems to be without a common name except "Plantain lily," which describes its handsome green leaves. It is a very hardy plant, with excellent borders or edgings in either sun or shade. It sends up graceful spikes of lily-like flowers in the summer. Various varieties have either blue, lavender or white flowers that are fragrant. The plant is very hardy and quite trouble-free.

Subcordata—Cortu lily grows 1-foot high and has white flowers in August.

Fortinera—is 1½-foot high and has lilac flowers in July.

Lanceolata—has various varieties of color, ranging from white to height of one foot and has lilac flowers in August.

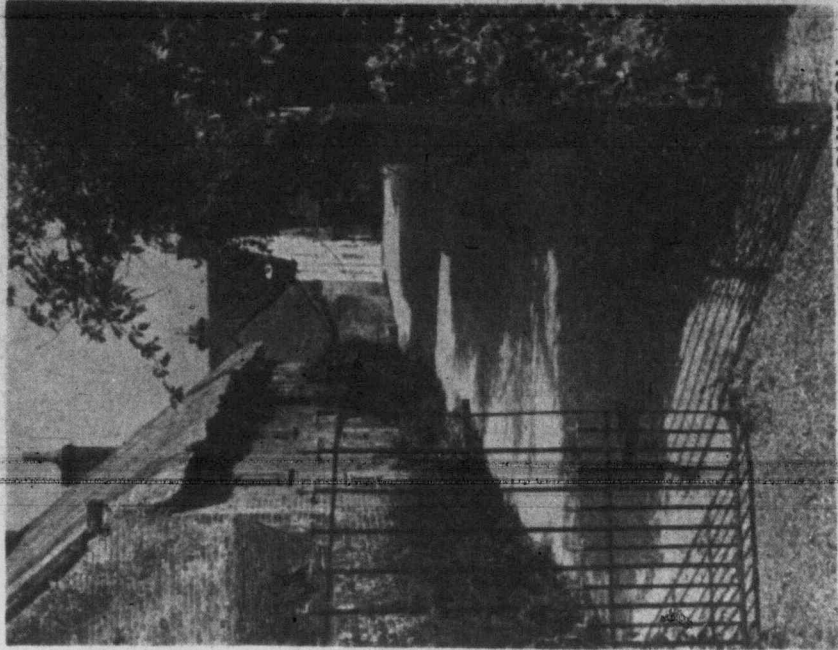

Ovata—has variegated leaves of several types, as well as the green ones. It grows to a height of one foot and has blue flowers in May and June.

RED HOT POKER Tritoma is one of the plants which never seems to get into trouble, even in country gardens where they are often choked with weeds. They form a large lusty clump with clear and attractive, long flat leaves which stand up for many years.

For many years there was only one red variety. Recently, others that are better in size of flower and in colors ranging through white, ivory, cream, primrose, saffron, yellow, gold, orange, flame and red, have been introduced. Some varieties flower as early as June, while others continue the display in July and August.

BERGAMOT OR BEE BALM Monarda didyma flowers are available in white, scarlet, salmon and lavender. The blooms come in July and August, and are most surrounded by the colored bracts. Often a stem grows out of the flower head and produces another complete flower 18 inches higher. The plants belong to the mint family. They have pleasantly scented leaves. Flowers are delightfully fragrant and bees are always attracted. The plants will grow practically anywhere, but they will naturally be best in a rich peaty soil that is kept continually moist and well-drained.

SHASTA DAISIES Recently several new and lovely Shastas have been introduced. They are equally free from all troubles in the way of insects and diseases as are the older variety. The new huge, single white one is Alaska. It is twice the size of the older sorts with glistening pure white flowers. Esther Reed looks like a pure white scabious zinnia on a short

HENRY PREE ANSWERS

Q—My lawn usually has a lot of brown spots during the hot weather. Should I spread peatmoss on the lawn? A—Brown spots on lawns are caused by a fungus which is different from the one that causes the brown spots that I cannot prescribe any treatment for.

Q—I know something about the conditions. Lack of topsoil, too little or too much fertilizer, over-watering, insects, diseases, dogs, etc., are a few of the reasons for brown spots.

Q—Our budget limits us to very few plants for foundation planting. What is your recommendation?

A—My choice of evergreens would be a pair of hybrid Yews, Taxus media brownii, and their selection is based on the assumption that they be placed to accent the front entrance to the house.

Q—Some of the plants that I have seen in some annuals, perennials, and shrubs which possess fragrance as well as pleasing blooms.

A—For fragrance choose from the following annuals—Marigold, mignonette, nasturtium, nicotiana, scabiosa, petunia, stock and sweet alyssum. Perennials—Sweet woodruff, hemerocallis, lily of the valley, day lily, peonies, geraniums, phlox, balloon flower and chrysanthemum. Shrubs—Buddleia, honeysuckle, summersweet, lilac, mock orange, rose acacia, sweet briar roses and most hybrid tea and floribunda roses.

CUCUMBERS CLIMB All cucumbers will climb if they are permitted to do so. In a small space, such as a balcony, tomatoes, peas, beans and melons can be grown on the fence.

Start Practicing With Short Irons

Always start practicing with the short Irons: seven, eight and nine. The longer the club, the harder it is to control.

Beginners are tense and apt to close the face of the club. The short Irons give you plenty of loft. The shorter Iron stroke differs from the normal swing.

In the backstroke pick the club up, don't drag it back. The right elbow is very close to the body, the arms in close.

The common fault here is a tendency to attempt to lift the ball. Remember to hit down and through, never behind the ball. The follow-through is necessary. In all shots, and always complete. Don't let up after hitting the ball. The body has turned so far, and facing the green, one must follow through. Don't worry about the speed of the clubhead will take your body around to the completion of a proper swing.

Next week: The medium irons.

smaller flowers and thin leaves of bright shining green, sharply pointed. It favors damp places and flourishes in a shady garden corner. We have another pretty yellow violet, known as viola sempervirens, the evergreen, because its rather dull green leaves on their runners are to be found in winter creeping along the soil of the dry forests it favors.

This wide distribution of violets is found also in viola langsdorffii a rare blue violet found about once at least of our Island lakes and also across the sea on the Asiatic continent; so also is the smooth violet already described.

Our blue violators are chiefly of the species known as Viola adunca, the hooked violet, so called because the spur is commonly or at least frequently curved. This is the characteristic violet I might say of Sooke Hills where in April and May the verdant valleys and slopes among and leading up to the rocky hills are literally covered in places with its clusters of leaves and flowers. It is a persistent bloomer and I have found it in flower on the Sooke river flats as late in the year as October 16; this was 1927.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

AS THE RESULT of an accidental discovery about the hardening of the arteries, the U.S. Public Health Service is planning a major new assault on the dread disease. Arteriosclerosis, the worst killer of them all, accounts for one-third of all deaths in the U.S.

The amazing discovery is a by-product of atomic research. In studying the effects of atomic radiation on blood it was found that all "hardened" arteries and veins were lined with deposits of a substance called cholesterol.

A fatty substance called cholesterol, which is essential for the functioning of the body, is also the cause of atherosclerosis, the hardening of the arteries. The substance has the effect of corroding the blood vessels, narrowing them and thus forcing the heart to strain and pump blood through them.

But it has not yet been determined that a diet high in cholesterol foods, such as dairy products, necessarily causes the disease. Some persons with much cholesterol in their blood have no evidence of atherosclerosis, while others with little

Other facts about the disease have helped turn up, are that hardening of the arteries is not necessarily a trouble of old age—and that males are far more susceptible to it than females.

The proposed big expansion of this whole new line of research will place related projects in our laboratories and universities around the world. Most experts agree that this program is probably one of the most important that has been opened up in many years.

There are 70 school teachers in the party. It is going to be quite an experience as we all are Dominion Empire exchanges—majority Canadian, slightly more than half and the rest about equally Australians and South Africans. There is every known variety of size, shape, age and type in the group. There are pole-takers who won't be seeing as much as the lazier members like me, as

PANORAMIC VIEW OF MODERNIZED DOCK AT OGDEN POINT

Pier A at Ogden Point as it appears today, as its first major "face-lifting" since it was opened in 1918, nears completion. Throughout seven-month job, wharfinger Stan Arvidson has given usual service to ships, even though working under difficulties as often as not. Small part of asphalted parking storage area is in foreground. Running into centre of huge shed is depressed railway. Track running along north side of pier was being renovated when this picture was taken. Freighters are loading B.C. lumber for different points on the globe.—(Bill Halkett picture)

EVERYTHING'S UP-TO-DATE AT OGDEN POINT

By JIM McKEACHIE

WHEN C.N.R. president Donald Gordon inspects Ogden Point docks during his visit here next week, he will see what will be by the month's end one of the best-looking and up-to-date piers on this coast.

The new president of the government-owned railway will be able to walk the entire length of the 700 by 200-foot shed on Pier A over the new concrete floor, and will see B.C. lumber being taken from the newly-asphalted storage area to the side of ocean-going freighters.

Freight cars of lumber will be hauled along either edge of the pier over rails which have new ties resting on a newly-consolidated bed. The work engine which chugs tirelessly around the few thousand yards of track by the docks will be able to pull cars along the depressed railway down the centre of Pier A—a depressed railway now smartened up with a 1,048-foot cement retaining wall on each side instead of the 12 by 12-inch timber retaining cribs.

The $250,000 "face-lifting" job at Ogden Point, started last Oct. 22, is the first major renovation since the docks were completed in March, 1918, at a cost of $2,440,000.

Although most of the trans-Pacific trade vanished during the war, there has always been a fairly steady stream of freighters calling here for lumber, but Victoria has declined considerably from the position as one of the chief seaports on the Pacific coast she enjoyed earlier in the century. Now, most of the trade goes to the railhead at Vancouver.

But the Ogden Point docks are there—and the Canadian National Railways is apparently determined to make them of such a calibre as to induce added traffic to Victoria.

Lumber is barged from the company's yards by the Point Ellice bridge to the ferry slip (which cost $65,000), north of Pier B, then is juggled around the tiny railway system of the point.

The docks were built between May, 1914, and March, 1918, by Messrs. Grant, Smith & Co. and McDonnell Ltd. They were to have been the first two of four piers which would have stretched from the breakwater to the Rithet docks further north. Decision to build them was made by the government following an investigation and report by Louis Coste in 1912.

At the same time as Pier A and Pier B were under construction, the firm of Sir John Jackson (Canada) Ltd. was building the breakwater. The latter project was started in May, 1913, and completed on Jan. 22, 1917.

Pier A, the one nearest the breakwater, is 1,000 feet long on its south side and 800 feet long on the north. Pier B is 800 feet long on both sides. Both are 250 feet wide and are separated by 300 feet of water.

The piers are of solid construction. A total of 50 immense reinforced concrete caissons, each 35 feet wide, 80 feet long and 36½ feet deep, built at Esquimalt were floated into position and sunk to form the outside edges. The centre section was filled with gravel and rubble.

The project now nearing completion by the contractors, City Construction Company of Vancouver, has been a big one.

During the years the action of the tide has gradually caused much of the gravel fill to boze out between the cracks which separate the caissons.

Divers were sent down and 250 cubic yards of concrete grouting were poured into the 51 underwater joints.

A total of 23,500 cubic yards of cement was poured to make a new floor for Pier A, replacing the three-inch plank floor.

The 210 posts which support the truss roof in the huge shed were put on three by three by one concrete slabs instead of the cedar footings as previously. This took an additional 150 yards of cement.

The vertical face of the pier and the filling between caissons were gunited to fill in places where the cement coping above the caissons had chipped.

The C.N.R., which has run the docks for the government since Feb. 5, 1919, laid 1,600 feet of six-inch Transit water pipe along Pier A, replacing the old cast pipe.

At the shore end of Pier A and on the adjoining ground, 16,460 square yards of asphalt were spread on a base of 2,740 cubic yards of crushed rocks. This is for parking and storage.

The asphalted surface has improved greatly the storage area by the docks. Prior to the reconstruction project, a relatively small amount of lumber could be piled to await freighters. With the more solid base, it can now be piled twice as high over a greater area.

Superintendent on the project is Alex Gall of City Construction Company. Also playing a large part in it is J. A. Christie, resident C.N.R. engineer on the job who works under H. R. Wilkinson, the railways division engineer for Vancouver Island.

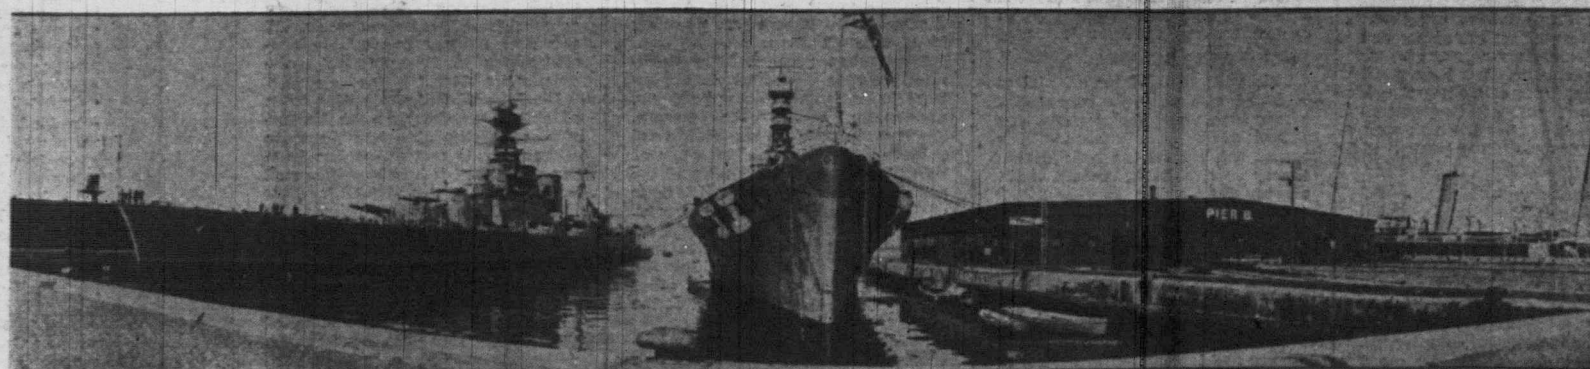

Working with Mr. Christie has been another C.N.R. engineer, J. H. Spicer of Vancouver. Clyde Davis, head of the contracting firm, also has spent a good deal of time at Ogden Point.

Fifty men were employed on the job at the peak period in November. In addition, 15 C.N.R. men carried out track work and laid the new water pipe.

MIGHTY BRITISH BATTLESHIPS LAY SIDE BY SIDE AT OGDEN

Thousands of Victorians flocked to Ogden Point in June, 1924, when the British Empire Special Service naval squadron visited the city. This picture shows the H.M.S. Hood and H.M.S. Repulse. The Hood, sunk in the Second World War, was the largest battletugger in the world at the time. Also in the squadron were the light cruisers Delhi, Danae, Dauntless, Dragon and H.M.A.S. Adelaide.

BEULAH CAUSED STIFF SALVAGE TASK

In 1937, citizens swarmed to Ogden Point in such numbers that police had to be called in to control traffic. On Dec. 27 the small freighter Beulah docked at Pier A with a terrific list, after taking a pounding off Cape Flattery. That night she sank at her berth, and it was not until March 24, 1938, she was raised after considerable difficulty and several unsuccessful attempts.

on the TIMES

By ART STOTT

IN THE OLD days of the ticker, "Mory" was the pulse of the news. As the telegraph "sunder" chattered its staccato monotone, Cornelius Francis Moriarty, chewed cigar in his mouth, pecked off on his typewriter the message it told. His was a little cubby-hole on the fourth floor of The Times.

Every office boy who came to The Times filled Moriarty's cubby-hole with those spacious days. Every office boy was "Kid" to Moriarty. They never grew up. They're "Kid" today and Moriarty is young with them.

MORI HAS been The Canadian Press in Victoria, the man who gathered the news for the service that is allowing him to retire now. He's several years past retirement age for the company and he complains of fatigue.

"Jesse, Kid, I'm tired," he says to explain his exit from the news business. Maybe he is. He's gripped about his lowered vitality for years. He'll keep on gripping until they pack him away. But if there's such a thing as being young in spirit, that's Mori.

Mori loves people. His friends range from a two-year-old toddler, whom he tried to spoil, to the important people of British Columbia's public life. He's a first-name man. He tries to preserve the forms, but he can't. When he starts to address the Chief Justice of B.C. as "Your Lordship," the words come out "Say, Gordon."

MORI HAS a passion for practical jokes. With his great friend, the late Benny Nicholas, he rigged up a fake cable, the Victoria Times office entertainment only, describing the feast of an ex-Times man in Shanghai at the start of the Sino-Jap war. The Victorian emerged as a hero, subduing half the Nip army with paste pots hurled from a news service office. The message, unfortunately, slipped from the Times office to the newsman's mother — and the explanation that had to be made were endless.

When Ben Nicholas was ill, needed a rest, but refused to go to a nursing home, Mori powdered his own face with chalk, told Ben he was feeling low and asked him to come along for company to a rest home. Ben went. He should have gone for his own good. Mori went from the kindness of his heart.

After a week's rigid diet, Ben was well. Mori, who had gleed in well, looked ghastly, pined with friends to send him sandwiches, said he was starving to death.

AS CANADIAN Press man, Mori has been a factual reporter. He has written what has been done and what has been said. In private life he allows himself all the latitude in speculation that is the right of an Irish imagination.

He starts his stories "Well, I tell ya..." From there on the listener is held. He may be getting the inside of the inside, or he may be receiving a refuted treatment in hoaxing. But if there's a butt to a joke, Mori sees that he's pretty close to it. Life stays a dream of youth for Mori. He revels in his memories of boyhood in the eastern U.S., his "booming" days all over the States, with special emphasis on whistle stops near the Mexican border.

He likes to recall early associations with the Trades and Labor Council here, work with fraternal organizations, athletic groups. He has a bagful of yarns on politics.

HE HAS BEEN the confidante of hundreds, high and low. All people are important to him. His heart is too big for his body, but he wins in friendships and affection returns that no cash investments could yield.

He knows that an overload of ice cream, pop, peanuts and popcorn can heal a broken eight-year-old heart. And he knows what sympathy can do to ease more adult pains.

For years Mori has been fighting a losing fight against falling hair. He has a child's faith in remedies that once made him a partial redhead and, at another time, he believes, returned some fuzz to the shiny part.

BEHIND HIS glasses his eyes dance with perpetual interest. He has an unfailing way of gaining confidence with his apparent ingenuousness. Laughter comes easily to him, happy laughter. He doesn't snicker.

This is the stocky little fellow with the inevitable pipe or cigar who has been as much a part of Victoria as Fort Street. This is the man who is leaving the newspaper business because he's tired.

With his going, something enduringly fresh is leaving the news field here. The telegraphers have moved a little further away.

Saanich Tulip Harvest Presents Colorful Scene

Colorful sight to see this time of year are masses of tulips now being harvested by thousands for shipment to eastern markets. Rows upon rows of multi-colored blooms now can be seen in Saanich. Majority of tulips are grown for their bulbs. This year, however, there is brisk business in cut flowers due to shortage of blooms in east. Diana and Bruce Wilson are helping pick flowers on their father's Saanichton farm.

Irate Aged Pensioners Complain All Getting Increases But Them

The federal government is accused of "stalling" the solution to the old age problem, in a letter sent by the Old Age Pensioners' Organization, Branch No. 5, to the Prime Minister and his Cabinet.

Pensioners expressed disappointment in what they said was the attitude adopted by the government in failing to fulfill promises made during the last session and the election campaign.

The letter points out speeches made by Liberal candidates during the election indicating that a plan was in the making which would improve their condition. "It eased their minds as to their future security," said the letter.

"The government action in appointing a committee of 40 members to investigate the question of old age pensions, is an act of stalling, for the debating of this question has been going on for years," the letter continues.

"We see no reason for the appointment of a cumbersome committee of 40 members, nor that this committee will find any information beyond that which the government already have."

The letter requests the government to cancel the committee and urges the government to fulfill its promises.

"There is a feeling that the government is being dishonest and is not playing the game, except the game of politics to old age pensioners," the letter says. The letter points out that members of every body of authority from city councils to the federal and provincial governments were getting raises which run into large sums of money but take only a matter of minutes to be put through three readings.

"The unions follow in their wake, in fact everybody not in need of the living bonus gets it, but the old age pensioners are left to struggle along as best they can," the protest said.

Weather Ship Establishment Off Till June

Do not look for more accurate weather forecasting in this area for a few months at least.

Establishment of the weather ship service off this coast originally set for late in May or early June probably will not come about until at least the fall.

Department of Transport officials here could not say why the three frigates which are to sail from the east coast to Victoria have been delayed. The weather ships will operate under the department, and will be manned by civilians.

H.M.C.S. St. Stephen, now working out of Halifax on weather patrol, is expected here first, followed by the St. Catharines and another frigate, probably the Stonetown.

AT SEA EIGHT WEEKS

Two ships will be at sea at a time, up to 800 miles off the coast, and each will be relieved by the third ship. Each will stay at sea eight weeks at a time then return to the Victoria base for about four weeks.

Nine wireless operators and five meteorologists will be aboard each vessel.

T. Morrison, Transport Department agent here, said there was a long list of applicants for jobs on the frigates.

Voyages To Barbados Difficult

There is a ship loading at Ogden Point at present which will be heading for Barbados Monday, but if you have a nice sterling income and a yen for the tropics, please do not phone shipping agent Cecil Ridout about passage.

To begin with, he likes Sunday off as well as the next fellow. Secondly, King Bros. Ltd., the firm Mr. Ridout manages, can do little to get passage for interested parties aboard freighters sailing out of this port.

The ship, the Seaside, is of Canadian registry. She will head seaward Monday after taking on 500,000 feet of lumber here. Scheduled to complete for sea Sunday in the Panamanian vessel Shahin. She is at Ogden Point loading 600,000 feet of lumber for Britain.

The Furness Line's Brazilian Prince is expected at Ogden Point Sunday morning inbound from the United Kingdom with about 100 tons of general cargo for this port.

Due to start loading 1,200,000 feet of lumber at Cowichan Bay Monday is the Italian ship Eretico. Her cargo is destined for the U.S. Atlantic seaboard.

Drunken Driving Trial Adjourned

Trial of 64-year-old Alfred Smith, 2840 Burdick Avenue, charged with drunken driving, opened Friday but was halted before the first Crown witness had completed his testimony owing to the need for more witnesses. Case was remanded to next Wednesday. James J. Proudfoot is defence counsel. C. L. Harrison the prosecutor.

Dr. E. L. McEwen, called by police to examine Smith for sobriety, on the afternoon of April 10, was giving his evidence when a trial-within-a-trial arose. As some witnesses were not present for this phase of the proceedings the remand was ordered.

Dapper Little Premier Impressed With What He Has Seen In West

The people of Newfoundland are "sold" on the union with Canada, the 10th province's Premier, Hon. Joseph Smallwood, said here today.

"In fact," he emphasized, "it would take nothing short of an atom bomb to blast us out of Confederation."

Here for the week-end on a tour of Canada, much of which he had never seen before, Premier Smallwood told about the happiness of Newfoundlanders over the union at a press conference in the offices of Premier Byron Johnson.

The dapper little premier, wearing blue poka dot bow tie and heavy horn-rimmed glasses, thinks Victoria is "paradise."

The magnitude of Canada has impressed him greatly. "There is too much of it for me to have formed an impression at this time."

Farm lands of the prairies were "staggering" to the premier who said Newfoundland's 5,000 farmers had about as much land under cultivation as 12 prairie section-holders.

Mr. Smallwood had not been west of Guelph, Ont., before his present trip.

GREAT BOOSTER

A great booster for his province, Premier Smallwood spoke enthusiastically of dozens of possibilities for development of the 10th province, and he jokingly referred to B.C. as "Canada's second-best province now that we have entered Confederation." Although a referendum on confederation received only a 52 per cent vote in favor, Premier Smallwood said that if a vote was taken now on whether Newfoundland should withdraw from the Dominion, it would be defeated almost unanimously.

The people of the easternmost province did not believe union supporters when they spoke of the advantages to be derived in joining Canada.

Due to start loading 1,200,000 feet of lumber at Cowichan Bay Monday is the Italian ship Eretico. Her cargo is destined for the U.S. Atlantic seaboard.

"But they do now!" said the premier. The province's 10,000 Second World War veterans did not think they would receive war gratuities and re-establishment credits; mothers thought family allowances were just "talk"; railway workers thought it poor fabrication their pay would go up when the C.N.R. took over; pensioners expected to lose their homes under the Canadian allowance set-up.

"That," said Premier Smallwood, "was one of the reasons the referendum vote was so close."

But when the cheques started coming in, the fears were dispelled and nearly everyone was happy.

Before union Newfoundland paid its old-age pensioners at the age of 75 only $30 every three months. Some 3,000 persons received the pension. Since confederation 11,000 old-age pensioners have been receiving the Canadian allowance.

Premier Smallwood said Newfoundland's cost of living had dropped not less than 25 per cent since union. Customs duties had kept prices high.

Other firms were Remington Rand, whose price was $50,195, plus sales tax; Northwestern Supply Co. (Sankey-Sheldon) $42,135, plus $1,500 if a superintendent of installation was necessary; and Pacific Sheet Metal Works, $39,399.74.

Phyllis Clegg, William O'Connell Wed At Nuptial Mass In Cathedral

One of the most attractive weddings of late spring was solemnized this morning at a nuptial mass in St. Andrew's Cathedral, uniting Phyllis Ann Clegg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Clegg, Quarantine Station, William Head, and William James O'Connell, son of Mrs. J. O'Connell, 627 Manchester Road, and the late Mr. O'Connell.

Tulips, narcissi and apple blossoms decorated the altar at which Father Donal Lehane celebrated the mass. Two standard baskets of spring blooms stood at each side of the sanctuary.

Given in marriage by her father, the fair-haired bride was lovely in a gown of gleaming white slipper satin slightly en train, with front gore of lace, nylon net yoke and lily point sleeves.

Her finger-tip veil fell gently from a dainty coronet and she carried a classic arm bouquet of red roses.

A gown of ice blue satin with nylon net yoke, sweetheart neckline, and full skirt en train with bustle was worn by Maria Popowich as bridesmaid. She wore long gloves and her chapel veil was caught by a Juliet cap. She carried an arm bouquet of carnations, sweet peas and narcissi.

Lorraine Ross was flower girl in a floor-length frock of pink taffeta with pink net over the full skirt. A pink poke bonnet, lace mitts and colonial bouquet completed her ensemble.

Kenneth Kissinger was best man and Fred French and Tony Ruskowski, ushers.

A reception followed in the Naval Veterans' Auditorium where Dave Williams proposed the toast. A lace cloth hand-worked by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. Clegg of Port Alberni, covered the bride's table which was centred with a three-tier cake, atop of which was placed a miniature bride and groom.

Large baskets of spring flowers flanked the table and tulips, narcissi and apple blossoms were used to decorate the reception room.

For her wedding trip to Seattle and Tacoma, the bride selected a three-piece light blue suit with navy and white accessories. On their return the young couple will reside at 1325 Stanley Avenue.

SENATOR WILSON RECEIVES AWARD

NEW YORK (CP)—Seven women named as "Mothers of the United Nations for 1950" Friday were present in person to receive their awards at a ceremony staged by the American Mothers' Committee.

Among them was Senator Cairine Wilson, Canada's sole woman senator who has been a member of the Dominion's Upper House since 1930. Senator Wilson, chosen as Canada's mother of 1950, is the mother of eight children.

Each of the seven mothers attending the ceremony received a scroll, paying tribute in general terms to motherhood. The awards were handed out following a breakfast attended by some 300 women.

The American Mothers' Committee, an organization seeking to promote the cause of world peace through the women of the world, also gave awards to representatives of 36 other countries which have chosen, or now are choosing, their "mother of 1950."

The remaining 16 member countries of the U.N., including Russia and most U.N. member states behind the Iron Curtain, did not name anyone.

Quorra—Election of officers was held at a meeting of Quorra P.T.A. as follows: Mrs. L. S. Rimmer, president; Mrs. G. L. Connor, Mrs. B. Kirkby, second vice-president; D. G. Eselment, secretary; C. F. Swannell, treasurer; Mrs. H. C. Parfitt, membership; Mrs. R. L. Duncan, social; Mrs. S. House, discussion group, and R. N. Grubb, program.

Good Luck To Women Graduates Of 1950

It is the end of an era for those who received degrees this week in convocation exercises at University of British Columbia, among whom were the happy Victoria girls on this page. . . . Convocation brings joys and sorrows. . . . No graduate leaves the campus without a pull at the heart-strings. . . . No gaiety to come is quite the same as the hilarity of campus days. . . . They won't soon forget the lively college "mixers" . . . the comradeship of studying with a chosen roommate . . . the excitement of football games in October sun . . . basketball in a rain-swept gym or hockey in the autumn dusk.

Miss Ilace Roskelley, well known as a talented young dancer in Victoria's entertainment circles, received a bachelor of arts degree. She is the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. W. R. Roskelley, Fifth Street.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Baby Takes Daily Tubbing In Comfort Of Bathinette

By PENNY SAVER

Babies haven't changed their goo's and gaa's to "by George isn't this jolly," but they're certainly doing it in up to date surroundings. Spotted a bathinette the other day that does everything but wash the baby! It was so modern you almost needed an engineer's ticket to run the thing.

Maybe I am exaggerating a little, because after watching the obliging young clerk demonstrate the simplicity of the modern invention, I was fully convinced that should mother be out shopping baby could have a tubbing on his own!

This particular bathinette is a rubberized cloth fabric, and although sold on its first arrival, for about 20 odd dollars, it is now available at $15.98. It stands about three feet high, a comfortable height, omits bending over, and sports an all wooden frame. The "tub" itself is fairly deep so they have provided an added adjustable section to fit into it for protection of the very tiny baby. This is easily taken out when "Snookums" gets a little older.

On one side of the bathinette there are pockets for baby's soap, and on the other, ample space for powders, oils and fresh-as-daisy diapers. After the wee punkin has been thoroughly bathed you'll just slide the "lid" over the tub section and put the youngster on the soft linen top to have his "rub down." Should you be called to the phone, don't panic, merely pull the three-inch linen strap from the side and stretch it over the baby. The infant will be held securely while you go about your business.

After the little one has been tucked into its crib you can take time out to drain the tub. A little rubber hose has been attached to the under section of the tub just for your convenience. Once drained the bathinette can be folded flat and stacked away in a cupboard or flat against the wall.

Lamp shades, window shades and eye shades I've seen, but shampoo shades I hadn't heard about until this morning. Guess who they're for? The little nipper in your household! "Tis none a mother who finds it a chore to get junior to have his head washed. His main objection is "soap gets in my eyes." You've got the problem licked with a 45 cent shampoo shade. In bright pink, yellow or green plastic with a white floral pattern, the shade somewhat resembles a sloppie collar. Round and flat, it features a broad brim that when put on the child's head runs water and soap off the sides instead of into Junior's eyes. The head band is self-adjusting. While you're giving Claude the onceover lightly, he can play with his toys in the bathtub and not bat an eyelash!

This modern generation!

'Please Help Us To Live!' They Plead

These adorable babies are among a group being cared for in a foster home by the Family Welfare and Children's Aid Society at the present time. To obtain money and materials to assist in clothing and keeping them, the women's auxiliary to the society will hold a spring tea and baby shower in the Douglas Room, Hudson's Bay Company, on Monday from 3 until 5. During the past year the auxiliary has assisted in caring for 70 babies under the age of four months in the nurseries. Members in that time made dresses, rompers, dozens of diapers, nighties, jackets, bonnets, booties, two dozen bed spreads and donated cribs, mattresses, sheets and an electric heater. Auxiliary work is entirely dependent on donations of friends and of the public.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRID

There are parents who, despite the intelligent steps they take to overcome infertility, would be doomed to go through life childless were it not that there are homeless babies to be adopted.

The longing for children is natural to happily married persons and there is no reason why their longing should be thwarted. But, one cannot translate the desire into instant gratification. There are not enough babies and adopting a baby is a serious step which should be approached thoughtfully and not capriciously.

To insure that the baby will be mentally and physically normal and that it will legally belong to the adoptive parents, it is wise to get the baby from some state-licensed agency. There are babies who have been procured from reliable, ethical doctors, but there are enough scoundrels who will urge an unmarried mother to give up her baby and then literally sell it to the highest bidder to make one wary of relying upon an unknown individual.

It is criminal to force of tempt a mother to give up her baby, if she might be encouraged to make a home for it. It is also criminal to burden adoptive parents with a baby which might be defective physically and mentally. Any licensed agency will have the baby tested both mentally and physically to be sure that it is healthy and normal. All legal

Six-For-One Brings Welcome Win

Mrs. David Barr, 1150 Vista Heights, is shown receiving the grand cash prize of $687 from Al Collips of C.J.V.I. This is the wonderful jackpot Mrs. Barr won by answering correctly the questions on the popular "Six-For-One" program over the local radio station, C.J.V.I. The award was doubly welcome to the Barr family, for Mr. Barr, employed by the Victoria Beverage Company, was recently injured on the job and for six weeks Workmen's Compensation cheques have been their only source of income. So it was a sale day for the Barr family, including Beverly and Jimmy, aged six and seven. This sum, $687, was the record jackpot won by any listener on the C.J.V.I. program, Six-For-One. It has been running since November, 1946, and in the 27 months a total of $28,647 in cash has gone out to lucky listeners.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: A says she knows at least a dozen men of about the same intelligence and position in life with any one of whom she could experience as much happiness and affection in marriage as she could with any of the others. B thinks that she could only love and be happy with some one particular man, and that she would always be indifferent to the others. Which is right?

X.Y.Z.
Answer: If A's ideal of marriage is merely to possess a husband and a home, then any man who would escort her to the altar and give her a "house-would suffice. But the girl who is capable of a deep love would single out some particular man from the group and set her affections on him. Why she chose him from among others just as good-looking, just as intelligent, just as desirable she could not tell. And that is the mystery of love.

In Plane Crash

QUONSET POINT, R.I. (UP)—A navy pilot was killed and his two crewmen were injured Friday when their torpedo bomber crashed in flames while attempting a takeoff from the Quonset Point naval air station.

Naval authorities said the accident occurred as the torpedo bomber took off in formation with other planes. They said the pilot apparently lost control of the bomber when he tried to take the backwash of another plane's propeller.

The bomber spun out of control, plunged to the ground and burst into flames.

Ferry Service To Salt Spring Asked

Papers Sell Large Blocks Of Stock

LONDON (CP)—Companies publishing the London newspapers, the Daily Mirror and the Sunday Pictorial, have sold large blocks of Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company stock.

The development company, which manufactures newspapers and has a large interest in the Buchanan mine, is controlled by Lord Rothermere's Associated Newspapers Ltd.

The Daily Mirror company disposed of its entire holding of 71,000 shares, while the Sunday Pictorial sold 30,000 shares. They were bought up in small lots by some 80 different buyers.

Market circles reported the two blocks were sold at about 10 shillings ($1.55) a share under market price. As the stock then stood at 9 7/8 6d., the two publishing concerns would have received a total of £441,000 ($1,367,000) for their 101,000 shares.

Flood Fighters Abandon Winnipeg Bridge

Army flood fighters today gave up its battle to save Norwood Bridge, one of the city's main arteries, as a new surge of flood water swept into the area. Picture shows evacuating crowds jamming the bridge, against which a mass of debris has been piled by the roaring Red River. —(CP Photo)

Half-Foot Rise Of Red River Forecast

Increase Seen Over Next 24-Hour Period

WINNIPEG (BUP)—A further rise of the flooding Red River by as much as six inches in the next 24 hours was predicted today as a U.S. army flood expert warned that the flood was at a critical point when an increase of half an inch of water means more than a five-foot increase at a lower stage. The estimated rise was predicted by city engineers as they reported the river was a little more than 12 feet above the minimum flood level of 18 feet.

The expert, H. W. A. Harich, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, said "This is the worst flooding I have ever witnessed."

Harich, flown here to aid local engineers in ascertaining the disastrous course the Red River floods were still to take, said 600 square miles were flooded through the Red River valley from here to Emerson, Man., on the border.

"The first crest passed here 10 days ago," he said.

WILL BE WORSE
"The second crest, still to come, will be worse and we are checking gauges along the line to see just what course it will take."

Estimates on when the second crest would reach here ranged from six to 15 days away. At least three more feet of water was expected to be added to the 12 feet above minimum flood level already reached.

More than six square miles of Greater Winnipeg's 60-square-mile area was flooded, the army estimated today. This did not include immediately threatened areas below the water level and still protected by dikes. Half of this flooding was independently estimated to be in Winnipeg proper.

WATER AT ROOFS
Water was up to the roof tops in the worst hit areas of Fort Garry and St. Vital, three to five miles from the heart of this western distribution centre.

Ten major areas of the city, on low-lying ground near the Red and Assiniboine Rivers, were under water. Tentacles of flood water were literally squeezing the life out of this city of 320,000, with an estimated one person in five already evacuated, one source predicted a third of the population would be forced out by next week. Most of the evacuees were women and children.

Alberta May Have To Take 'Peg Patients'

EDMONTON (CP)—If the Manitoba flood situation becomes much worse Alberta hospitals "will likely be asked to accommodate 500 to 1,000 Winnipeg patients," Health Minister Dr. W. W. Cross said today.

About 100 ex-servicemen from Deer Lodge Hospital at Winnipeg are to be moved shortly to Edmonton's University Hospital. Three hundred beds are being made available immediately in Alberta hospitals for Winnipeg patients.

The Alberta government will guarantee payment of the Manitoba patients' bills in hospitals they are moved to in the province, Dr. Cross said.

The health minister said accommodation likely will be found for the patients in hospitals at Vegreville, Vermilion, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Calgary, Oyen, Hanna and Drumheller.

Trail Announces $1,000,000 Plan Of Expansion

TRAIL (CP)—A $1,000,000, two-year mine expansion program for British Columbia was announced today by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. Ltd.

The giant firm said its plans to bring into full production the historic Bluebell lead-zinc mine at Riondel, B.C., where, historians say, Hudson's Bay Company trappers once obtained surface ore to make bullets.

When the project is completed, officials said, employment will be provided for approximately 250 men. Fifty men now work there.

Present plans call for the pumping out of the old mine to the lowest level, the sinking of a new inclined shaft for 970 feet and preparation of the mine for a daily production of 500 tons.

U.S. May Ask Egypt Royalty To Leave Soon

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Cairo newspapers said today the United States government is expected to ask Egypt's Queen Mother Nazli, her daughter Princess Fathia and the latter's commoner bridegroom, Riad Ghali, to leave the United States "in the coming few weeks."

Dispatches from the Washington correspondents of Al Misri, Al Ahran and the weekly Akhbar El Yom said the U.S. has refused to extend their residence visas.

The Queen Mother had consented to her 19-year-old daughter's marriage April 25 in San Francisco and has been trying to secure approval of the wedding from her son, King Farouk, who publicly disapproved of the wedding.

Queen Nazli and her daughters, Princesses Fathia and Fawzia, have been in the United States since 1946. Riad Ghali, a Christian Copt, is the queen's political adviser. The Princess is a Moslem.

Ava Gardner Gets Frank Sinatra's $10,000 Necklace

BARCELONA, Spain (AP)—That emerald necklace, valued at $10,000, which crooner Frankie Sinatra brought from New York Thursday has finally been delivered to his actress friend, Ava Gardner.

The Spanish customs, which impounded the gems, relented today and promised Ava she was free to take them out of Spain without further red tape when she leaves.

Meanwhile, Frankie and Ava avoided reporters and photographers. They remained at the house the Hollywood actress rented in the tiny Catalan village of Tossa, on the Mediterranean coast.

At Tossa, Ava is making a movie with British actor James Mason and a Spanish bullfighter, Mario Cabre, said to be playing a leading role with Ava just now, both in and out of pictures. With Frankie's arrival on the scene, Cabre made a polite exit. He is at nearby Girona.

Frankie having voice trouble, had been ordered by his physicians to take a rest.

Edmonton Reports Another Rat Seen

EDMONTON (CP)—A rat was reported sighted in Edmonton today, serving as a reminder to citizens that the predicted wholesale invasion of the province by the rodents is close at hand.

William J. Bowling said he saw the rat on railway tracks behind a brewery. "I saw lots of them while I was in the navy—I'd never mistake one."

The last rat seen here was killed in March.

Nationalist Raid On Reds Reported

TAIPEI, Formosa, (Sunday) (AP)—Official dispatches today said Nationalist guerrillas Friday landed at Shihpu, 140 miles south of Shanghai, and struck inland. No details were given but the attack on the Communist mainland apparently was a commando-type raid, of which the Nationalists have made several within recent months.

Track Star Sets Unofficial Record

LONDON (AP)—McDonald Bailey of Trinidad, who ran for Great Britain in the 1948 Olympics, today traveled 220 yards in 21 seconds at the Highland Games in White City Stadium. Bailey's time will not be put forward as a British record because there were only two timekeepers. The official British 220-yard record is 21.1 seconds, by Billy Applegarth in 1914.

Strike Of Rail Firemen Slows Up Union Pacific

CHICAGO (AP)—The crippling strike of locomotive firemen against four key rail systems in the United States spread today to a stretch of the Union Pacific Railroad.

At the same time, striking firemen began picketing Pennsylvania railroad yards at Harrisburg, Pa., after the Pennsylvania put 10 freight trains in operation. There were unconfirmed reports firemen were walking out on the Grand Trunk Western Railroad, but a union spokesman in Chicago said he had no information on that. The Grand Trunk Western operates some lines in Michigan, in conjunction with the Canadian National Railway.

So far, the only services affected within Canada are those of the Michigan Central Railway running through southwestern Ontario. The strike was called Wednesday by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen against parts of the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Southern and Santa Fe systems. The union is demanding a second fireman on certain big diesel locomotives and a fireman on small diesel diesels. A union spokesman in Chicago said firemen will refuse to run Union Pacific trains over 100 miles of track between Daggett and San Bernardino, Calif., starting at 6 p.m. today. He said these tracks are owned by the strike-bound Santa Fe Railroad.

Conciliation Needed For B.C. Loggers

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Conciliation board action today became necessary in contract disputes involving some 35,000 British Columbia loggers.

Conciliator W. G. McLaughlin Friday night failed to bring agreement between 2,500 Vancouver Island loggers and Bloedel, Stewart and Welch Ltd.

It is expected a conciliation board will be set up early next week.

The island loggers thereby join their more than 32,000 coastal brothers, who already have named a representative for a conciliation board.

All are represented by the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.). Contract demands are similar. They include a wage increase of 17 cents an hour, a union shop and other contract concessions.

Bloedel, Stewart and Welch, negotiating independently from other large operators, offered a compromise wage boost but refused to consider the union shop demand.

The company wage offer averaged about 8 cents an hour. I.W.A. loggers have threatened to strike if contract agreement is not reached by June 15.

Vancouver's Hoodlums Busy In Cariboo

WILLIAMS LAKE (CP)—The long-haired, zoot-suited hoodlums of Vancouver are raising hob in the Cariboo cattle land, police reported today.

Six teen-agers, identified by police as members of Vancouver's "Alma Duke" gang, were sentenced to two days in jail here for destroying property. The group, who arrived a week ago with a railway construction gang, will receive "one-way tickets back to the coast" when released.

Police said the youths smashed several railway coach windows. The reason: The cook refused to serve them breakfast after they overslept several hours.

Japs May Join Olympic Games

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Otto Mayer, Chancellor of the International Executive Committee, said tonight there is every reason to believe that Japan will take part in the 1952 Olympic Games.

Japan, unlike Germany, was never "de-recognized" by the International Olympic Committee," Mayer said.

He indicated the only thing standing in the way of Japanese participation is that country's affiliation with the various international sports federations.

CONVICT BUILT RADIO TRANSMITTER IN JAIL

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia. (AP)—An Iowa prisoner planted a microphone in the warden's conference room and made wire recordings of closed sessions of the State Board of Parole.

He also built a powerful radio transmitter within the walls of the state men's reformatory at Anamosa. Before he was able to broadcast his whole set-up was discovered.

This story was disclosed Friday night by Jim Bormann, news director of radio station WMT, Cedar Rapids, in a copyrighted broadcast.

Bormann said he came into possession of the recordings by keeping an appointment at the Chicago airport with an intermediary of the prisoner. Bormann said he identified himself "by a prearranged set of words" to get the spoils.

The prisoner who indulged in the electric eavesdropping, Bormann said, was Pete Hellyer, 47, of Waterloo, Ia. He said Hellyer was sentenced 19 years ago for a sex crime.

Bormann related that Hellyer had help from other prisoners and that one of them planted the microphone which picked up the Parole Board's interviews with prisoners seeking clemency.

Police Renew Hunt For Missing Officer's Wife

Woman Claims To Be Object Of Long Search In Dramatic Appearance In Seattle Hotel

SEATTLE (AP)—Police are searching today for a woman who appeared briefly in a downtown hotel and dramatically identified herself as Mrs. Robert W. Morris, long-missing wife of a former Seattle police captain.

Mrs. Morris disappeared from her home a year ago. The hunt for the 44-year-old woman during the last few months has been one of the most intensive in the city's history.

The woman approached a hotel public stenographer, Mrs. Kathryn Meyer, Thursday and asked for a deed form. Mrs. Meyer told her she did not have one and suggested she go to a bank.

Mrs. Meyer said the woman turned down the suggestion with these words: "I don't want to go to the bank and I'll tell you why. I'm that missing Mrs. Morris, the police captain's wife."

Mrs. Meyer said the woman talked to her for about five minutes about affairs personal to the Morris family. Some of the incidents she mentioned have never been published in newspapers and are known to be true.

The woman left abruptly and Mrs. Meyer notified police.

Police Chief George D. Eastman said today that the appearance of the woman was the first strong lead in the lengthy search. "There is a strong possibility that this is the missing woman," he said.

Mrs. Morris vanished from her home May 31, 1949. She took no extra clothing and was believed to have very little money. Her husband, who had been with the police department 18 years, resigned Jan. 31, while the search for his wife was going on. He is living in Van Nuys, Calif.

Guest Paid Bill But Left Owner In 'Red' For $80

A man and woman, registered in a room in the Portland Hotel, paid their bill and left with their baggage — but they omitted a slight matter, $80 damage done by fire to the bedding in the room.

Proprietor Don Harvey discovered that the mattress, two sheets and one pillow had been damaged by the fire on checking the room following the couple's departure.

Detective Maurice Wilkinson made a fast trip to the C.P.R. boat and learned the man was from a B.C. interior centre.

Mr. Harvey was informed the case was a civil matter.
